Give Program For Opening Of New Hotel

Entire Week To Be Devoted To Special Events At The Castleton

FIRST BANQUET ON OCTOBER 22

Hotel To Be Used By State Convention Delegates Next Week

That the first event of the opening of The Castleton will be a banquet Saturday night, Oct. 22, at which contractors, sub-contractors will join with newspapermen and hotel men from this part of Pennsylvania and Ohio, was decided upon this morning at a conference between Senator G. T. Weingartner, Manager John L. Slack and Emerson D. Owen, publicity director for the American Hotel Corporation and the United Hotels Company of America.

A program of entertainment will be provided by Manager John L. Slack.

Monday Night

On Monday night, Oct. 24, comes the event which will be reminiscent of the strenuous days of the financial campaign to secure funds for the building of the hotel when a banquet will be given by the directors of the hostelry to the campaigners as a result of a promise made by the directors at the time of the campaign.

The program of the evening will be in charge of the campaign workers themselves, and Manager Slack promises to provide a banquet worthy of the occasion.

Tuesday

On Tuesday, Oct. 25, comes the great day for the stockholders, when they and their friends will be able for the first time to make a thorough inspection of the hotel. Admittance will be by ticket only, and each of the stockholders will be entitled to two tickets, which will entitle the immediate members of their families to admittance. All city and county officials will also be invited to the inspection.

Representatives of the American Hotels Corporation will plot a route through the entire hotel, including the guest rooms and the mechanical departments located in the basement. By a system of placards, with ropes leading to entrances, the guests will be able to visit every department of the inn without confusion. Upon entering each of the guests will be giv-

Colorful Throng In Pittsburgh Awaits Series Game Today

Persons In All Walks Of Life Scramble For Seats To View Annual Classic

Feature Writer Terms Series As Six Bull Fights; Yankees Are Favored

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5.—They are all here—the hard-boiled scribblers, the sure-thing sharpshooters, the gyps, the dips, the sports and the mixers.

Strange gatherings these world series mobs are, and I've watched them since before the bald spot showed on the back of my cogitator and before four-eyed pitchers made the big league. Not aristocratic. Colorful, bizzarre, but not refined. Not like a championship fight crowd, a derby gang or an Army-Navy football round-up. Anyway, that goes for those who travel out of town to take in the high peak annual American sports classic.

There is gaiety about a Tunney-Dempsey shindy. It concentrates to any center the financial lights, the literary stars, society, stage favorites, politicians, men and ladies of luxury and leisure. Football leans heavily on our best people, bringing forth the most sedate as well as the most dashing. Racing spectacles produce the griddiest, the most effervescent set of all—debs, bloods, the flower of the nation.

But, with all the intensified appeal of our own indigenous game at its most fascinating climax, those who crave it sufficiently to go long distances after it in no way make up a group resembling the conclaves at those other functions.

Entire Country Represented

Football is just as technical and has to be understood to be enjoyed. But it has its amateur tang, its partisan associations; racing is strictly commercial, but it is the sport of kings, and this is a democracy that still worships kings—on derby day, anyway. There is a barbaric dignity to important pugilistic encounters which makes anyone who is someone feel that they are not to be missed. But baseball—probably the most widely and consistently advertised, with inter-city rivalries, with multiple personalities where other sports

Sidelights On World's Series

FORBES FIELD, PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 5.—The most henpecked husband in America lives in Pittsburgh and his wife is a rabid baseball fan. She sent him down to the ball park at 2 o'clock this morning and made him stand for eight hours to hold her place in the ticket line.

At 11 o'clock the line of fans waiting to purchase standing room in the grand stand and bleachers stretched half way around the park. After hours of waiting many of them could stand the strain no longer and bought tickets from the scalpers although it meant putting most of their personal belongings in hock.

Even in front of the newspaper score boards, crowds began forming well before 11 o'clock.

A well-known Pittsburgh bootlegger, sitting in a field box, was looking rather pale around the gills. His wary customers now make him sample his wares before they do any purchasing, it is rumored.

A false note in the proceedings was sounded when Nick Altrock and Al Schacht, Washington comedians, led a 22 piece band. The bleacherites, basking in a warm sun, applauded wildly.

Holders of reserved seats slept late. Two hours before game time hardly more than a hundred spectators were in the grandstand.

There was quite an uproar at one of the entrances to the park just before batting practice started. Police were told that a boy was trying to force his way past the ticket chopper. Upon investigation they found the intruder to be Miller Huggins.

Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, with his white hair freshly shampooed, but his famous world series hat still unblocked, judicially surveyed the festivities from a field box.

Marcus Arelius Koenig was in his best world series form and messed up several grounders in fielding practice. Mark, who was the official goat of last year's series, will have a good alibi if he spills the beans here. The Pittsburgh infield is harder than a bride's biscuit and grounders travel across it like a rifle shot.

Urban Shocker, New York's expert, was munching apples instead of cut plug. Shocker rushed out and bought a basket of fruit when Herb Pennock, his buddy, was injured yesterday. When Pennock protested that he was not hurt seriously, Urb decided to keep the fruit himself.

Cedric Durst, a substitute whose line drive felled Pennock, one of the Yankees' aces, was a tragic figure. Durst is worrying himself sick because the unfortunate accident may ruin New York's chances.

GREAT CATHEDRAL ORGAN IS FORMALLY DEDICATED; HONOR MEMORY OF DONOR

Immense Audience Fills Cathedral For Event Tuesday Evening

Bishop Berry Pays Tribute To Late George Greer; Recital Is Given

There have been impressive programs presented in the Scottish Rite Cathedral, and there will be many more in the coming years. But regardless of what has gone before and what will follow, few of them can ever hope to equal in solemnity or impressivness the service of Tuesday evening, Oct. 4, when the Moller four manual organ, gift of the late George Greer, was dedicated to the use of the citizens in this community.

It was no ordinary organ recital, not just the usual premiere of a wonderful instrument, it was an event that stamped itself indelibly on the minds and hearts of a grateful citizenry, a posthumous honor to a man whose life was inextricably interwoven in the entire fabric of his city, industrial, financial, political and aesthetic.

House Crowded.

One would expect the auditorium to be filled for such an occasion and it was from parquet to second balcony. But to the crowd should be added one more guest, unseen it is true, but whose presence seemed to hover over the auditorium like a benediction, the spirit of George Greer.

Through the whimsy of Fate he was denied the privilege of attending what was to be the crowning feature of a life of philanthropy. To him was given the means and the desire to plan for this great organ, but before it could be installed and dedicated, the Great Choirmaster called him to join the ranks of those musicians whose paens of praise will ring down through Eternity.

Memory is Honored.

But if George Greer was denied the privilege of being present in the flesh, certainly nothing was left undone to honor his memory. At the opening of the program, Attorney Walter S. Reynolds asked the audience to stand for a moment while a prayer was offered. Nor was this prayer a vocal or oral one. Instead it was one from the voice of the organ, released thru the artistry of Firmin Swinnen. No oral prayer could have been as sincere, as genuine and as touching as that prayer of the organ. It seemed to breathe gratitude, reverence and piety, nor did a sound from the crowd mar the beauty of it.

Dedication in Intermission.

The formal dedication came midway in the program of Firmin Swinnen. First came the unveiling of the bronze memorial tablet in memory of George and Charles Greer. Two little lassies, the Misses Eleanor and Anita Love, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Love, and granddaughters of the donor of the organ, released the ribbon holding the shield over the tablet, and a flood of light played on it the balance of the evening. The inscription on the tablet is found in an insert in this article.

Following the unveiling, the curtains on the stage were drawn, revealing a stage setting of simple beauty. Then came the cathedral guard, uniformed and armed with flashing swords, headed by the captain of the guard, Attorney William J. Moffatt.

Marching two abreast to the center of the stage they parted, formed a roof of steel with their swords to permit Bishop Joseph F. Berry and John S. Wallace to come through, followed by Commander-in-Chief William H. Dunlap and the officers of the New Castle Consistory.

Bishop Berry presented the organ to the cathedral and to the community in an address which will be found at the end of this article. It was a touching tribute coming from the

G. O. P. Leaders Look At Field Of Possibilities

Republican National Committee Has Open House In Washington

SEE GOVERNOR SMITH AS DEM CANDIDATE

Likely Candidates For Republican Party Nomination Discussed

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The spectre of Al Smith hung over the Republican National committee's "open house" here today.

Republican chieftains, assembled in Washington at the invitation of Chairman William M. Butler, for the most part were agreed that New York's popular governor looked to be the most likely Democratic presidential nominee and none of them was under-estimating his strength and public appeal. On all sides it was admitted that with Smith making the opposition campaign the Republicans are in for a fight to continue control of the national administration.

The drawing powers of such outstanding figures as Vice President Charles G. Dawes, Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, former Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Ill., and former Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes, were being weighed most carefully as the national committeemen entered the third day of their "informal meetings."

And as the search continued for an expression of sentiment sufficiently soldified to warrant the belief that a man had been found who could defeat Governor Smith, a little group of Republican elders opened up a whispering campaign that it would have to be "either Dawes or Coolidge."

Statement Confuses.

This note was being struck in hotel lobbies and upper-floor rooms in the face of an apparently unanimous agreement that the president meant to eliminate himself finally when he said "I do not choose."

The argument presented, on its face at least, sounded convincing. One man, long prominent in the business of naming Republican presidents, outlined the situation as follows:—

"Lowden will go into the first ballot with perhaps as many as 200 votes. Hoover will have a block—not so many as his supporters now hope for. Dawes, who will not permit his name to be used in advance of the convention, will have a few. The rest will be scattered among such favorite sons as Senator Curtis, of Kansas,

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Oct. 6.—At the request of Assemblyman Fred W. Patterson of New Brighton orders have been issued by James Woodward, secretary of internal affairs at Harrisburg, for the plotting of Beaver county, an act that has never been done. This means that the entire county, formerly a part of Allegheny county, will be plotted, all deeds and land grants in the original put together so that all deeds will be recorded in such manner that titles may be run back to the original grants from the government. This, it is said, will be a great convenience for attorneys at law in the running of titles. It will require a year or more to complete the work.

NEED LEGISLATION FOR RIVER CONTROL

Illinois Representative Plans Extensive Survey Of Mississippi Valley

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Congressional leaders are mapping out a campaign to prevent the Mississippi flood control bill from becoming a "pork barrel" measure with scores of small rivers and harbors projects included, it was indicated today.

Already reports have reached Washington that many members will demand inclusion of "pet' local projects which have been slumbering in congress for years. The answer to this demand on the part of leaders in the house, where the legislation will originate, is to confine the Mississippi question to one of permanent flood prevention.

"We've got to enact constructive legislation to prevent a recurrence of floods on the lower Mississippi and it will be costly" said Representative Madden (R.) of Illinois, chairman of the House Appropriations committee. "However, I won't stand for everybody trying to dip their hands into the treasury on the strength of this needed legislation, and they may just as well understand it now."

Representative Reid (R.) of Illinois, chairman of the House Flood Control committee, declared that a long investigating trip had convinced him that people generally are fully awake to the Mississippi river situation and want it to be settled primarily as a question of flood control.

FORBES FIELD, Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 5.—Tingling to their finger tips with excitement, 40,000 or more rabid baseball fans poured into the towering steel stands of Forbes Field this afternoon to witness the opening game of the annual world series drama. And drama it should be, what with such powerful ball clubs as the New York Yankees and the Pittsburgh Pirates arrayed against each other and determined to battle to the last putout.

All-Star Cast

Never before in a world series has there been a greater all-star cast than that which took the field today. There was the illustrious Babe Ruth, the peerless home run slugger; Lou Gehrig, almost as great an attraction; the incomparable Waner brothers, Paul and Lloyd; the spectacular "Pie" Traynor—and a scintillating array of lesser lights. On the side lines there was a comedy. Nick Altrock and Al Schact, the clowns of baseball, doing their stuff; on the bench there was tragedy—Kiki Cuyler—the hero of the last Pittsburgh world series of 1925—sitting in the dugout with the green stock because he had incurred the displeasure of his manager earlier in the season.

Real Fence Busters

Not only all this, but here on Forbes Field today were lined up the two heaviest hitting baseball clubs of the present era—real fence busters, any one of whom may write his name indelibly on the imperishable records of baseball.

By a strange coincidence both the Yanks and the Pirates participated in 153 games during their regular season and both compiled the identical team batting average of .307. They dashed upon the field, grim and determined, to play the twenty-fourth annual world series, truly the outstanding clubs in their respective leagues. In the previous twenty-three series, the American league representatives won thirteen times and the National League entries 10 times.

WAR VETERAN HERE ON HIKE

Has Covered 40,000 Miles Afoot In Quest Of Health

Tanned and bronzed from seven years and nine months of travel over the entire country, by walking, Sergeant J. H. Duffy gassed and wounded World war veteran and veteran also of other wars, paid a visit to New Castle today.

Duffy carried with him credentials to prove that he is not a "hitch-hiker," and also to prove that he has covered some 40,000 miles of the country on the quest for health.

Not many years ago Duffy, following several operations weighed 114 pounds, and could have been pushed over with a feather, but years of outdoor life has put real beef and muscle on the frame of the veteran, and today it would take about five able bodied men to handle Duffy. The veteran now tips the scales at 241 pounds, and is the picture of health.

Duffy's army career started with the Spanish American war, he was also in the Boxer Rebellion in China, and was wearing a Japanese uniform at the battle of Port Arthur in the Russo-Japanese war.

When the World war broke out in 1914, Duffy enlisted with the famed Canadian outfit, the Princess Pats. He was seriously wounded while serving with that outfit which was badly cut up in the early days of the war. Invalided home he elisted with the old 69th Infantry of New York in 1917 and was later transferred to the 117th Engineers of the Rainbow Division. With the A. E. F. he was gassed and seriously wounded when a shell kicked back out of a machine.

He carried with him statements from the governors of practically every state in the Union together with a number from Canadian cities.

Sergeant Duffy, who is 57 years old, has walked more than 100,000 miles. He expects to leave here tomorrow on his way to Pittsburgh.

Chorus Choir To Meet On Sunday

John W. Owens, director of music for the 65th annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association announces that the next rehearsal of the chorus choir will be held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the First Methodist church.

The response last Sunday, when the choir practiced in the Cathedral, was very gratifying, says Mr. Owens, as 240 were present. It is hoped that the same 240 will be on hand for Sunday's rehearsal as well as other members who were not able to be at the former rehearsal, heart of a friend of George Greer, a tribute and a eulogy that embellished the life work of the philanthropist.

GREAT CATHEDRAL ORGAN IS DEDICATED

Atty. Walter S. Reynolds Responds.

Upon behalf of the Scottish Rite Cathedral association Attorney Walter S. Reynolds responded and the emotions of the hour seemed nearly too much for him to transcribe his thoughts into words.

Once again the cathedral guard formed, this time to escort Marshal William C. Porter, who proclaimed the acceptance of the gift, from the north, from the west, from the south and from the east. A recessional sounded from a piano off stage, the muffled tread of the guard marching off, and the curtains closed.

As to the recital itself by Firmin Swinnen of Wilmington, Del., it seemed peculiarly in keeping that such a talented artist should be chosen to play the dedicatory recital of this wonderful instrument.

Every stop, every combination, every one of the 5612 pipes of the organ it seemed were called into play to demonstrate to the thousands present just what an instrument had been given to the people.

Ponderous, reverberant numbers rolled and pealed and thundered their way to the dome, sounding like the rumble of artillery, only to be followed by almost ethereally sweet melodies from single pipes. Now it sounded like some huge orchestra, now like the pipes of Pan, it rivalled the volume of a symphony orchestra and the delicacy of a lute.

Firmin Swinnen is an artist, one of unusual talents and abilities, a musician, a technician, an organist of inspiration. Perhaps the occasion seemed to lend magic to his fingers for he painted a colorful scene on the canvas of the mind.

Not in a long time will those men and women fortunate enough to be present forget the dedicatory recital of the Greer Memorial organ. Nor would they if they could. In the building of a life there must be a goodly proportion of the aesthetic used if one would achieve a well balanced life, and the dedicatory recital of Tuesday evening was one of those things that lives on and on, gathering beauty through retrospection, becoming more mellow as the years roll on.

The presentation address of Bishop Joseph F. Berry follows:

The address was a tribute to the character of Mr. Greer, and not alone to his character but to the attributes of the man which carried him to the heights of a successful life. Bishop Berry said:

"If George Greer had lived he would be standing where I am standing tonight and would himself have presented this organ to the Cathedral association and to the people of this community.

To have been called to perform this service I regard as a very special honor and my only regret is that I fill his place so unworthily.

Personal Friend.

Mr. Greer was my personal friend for many years and when he went away, none mourned more sincerely than myself. He was a great, true friend, and his fidelity to his friendships was as firm as granite.

Gearge Greer had a notable personality, and personality is the greatest thing in the world. In his character were combined rugged strength and delicate sensibility. As a thinker he was original and independent. His opinions were his own and he adopted no attitude upon personal or public affairs because other persons of influence had assumed that attitude. He had strong convictions and was not afraid to stand resolutely by them. He was a man of great force and yet was as tender and affectionate as a little child.

It is very seldom that we find a man of such remarkable executive ability who at the same time is ardently devoted to the fine arts, especially to music. Commercial life especially when the pursuit of that life results in large business sucess is apt to make a man hard and sordid and selfish. Not so with George Greer. He grew mellow and unselfish as the years passed and when his bank balance became corpulent it did not destroy his nature.

With our friend, music was a veritable passion and among the happiest hours of his life were those spent at the piano or organ and in the leadership of his great chorus choir at the church. If he was to give this cathedral and community a great gift no other could possibly be so perfectly in harmony with his tastes and spirit nor so absolutely reflect his innermost soul as does this glorious organ.

Live On And On.

In this gerat instrument George Greer will live on and on through all the coming years. He being dead will yet speak to us and as we listen to these wonderful harmonies his stalwart form and noble face will rise before us. It is no small thing to project ones self into the thought and affections and life of a community through all the coming years. For life after all must be measured by what we are and what we do by the influences we set in motion for the redemption and uplift of our fellows. There is much more goodness in the world than we are apt to confess. But there is much kindness and charity that is pent up in the heart and grows cold and selfish because of grasping greed. What the world needs is more expression, unselfish, charitable helpful expression.

George Washington lives today because of his patriotic devotion. Abraham Lincoln lives today because of his unfaltering consecration to an oppressed people, lives above the clouds of passion in the ethereal heights where he calls the nations to a nobler life.

Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson live today because of their devotion to great governmental ideals and their names will shine with increasing lustre when history has its opportunity to record with cool complacency their heroic services to their country.

Live In Gratitude

The soldier boys whose bodies lie yonder in the long trenches under the waving poppies of France live in the gratitude and love of a world saved from the grasp of cruel tyranny and the memory of their valor will never fade away. George Greer lives in the thought and gratitude of the people now resident in New Castle and this will be true of the next generation, and the next and the next, while multitudes yet unborn shall sound out their clarion note of appreciation and praise.

This organ was given by Mr. Greer as a memorial of his brother Charles, but in the Providence of God it has become the memorial of both Charles and George.

In behalf of a friend who has gone to coronation, it is my very pleasant duty to present this great organ to the Cathedral Association and through the Association to the various Masonic bodies, and to the people of the City of New Castle."

Following his address of presentation, Bishop Berry then read the formal Dedicatory Service of the Fraternity to which the organ was given. This service follows.

Dearly Beloved:

In the holy Scriptures we read of elaborate preparation for the musical parts of the temple worship. In the ancient temple were 4000 persons in the orchestra and chorus, divided into 24 separate groups, using cymbals and psalteries and harps, and instruments of ten strings, flutes and pipes, trumpets and cornets. The Scriptures tell us that God filled that temple with His glory, thereby sanctifying all these instruments to His holy use.

Let us not doubt, therefore, that He approves our purpose of dedicating the organ to His service, filled, as it is, with 5612 pipes, flutes, strings, and chimes, sanctified to be a many-voiced instrument of praise and worship for this people.

The dedication with simple religious rites of an instrument to be used for the culture and inspiration of the people of this community seems most appropriate. This is especially so inasmuch as the great organ passes into the possession of the Masonic fraternity, a vast organization which has always acknowledged Almighty God as an essential part of its teaching and life. May we not confidently expect that this glorious instrument shall ever stand here as an emblem of His gracious presence and as a constant aid to spiritual enrichment and strength? Furthermore, as the dedication of the instrument of praise is in vain without the solemn consecration of the people also, let us now dedicate ourselves anew to the service of God. To Him, let our souls be dedicated, that they may be renewed after the image of Christ. To Him, let our bodies be dedicated that they may be fit temples for the indwelling of the Holy Spirit. To Him let our voices, our songs, our hymns, be dedicated that they may declare the beauty of the Lord and spread His worthy praise before all people.

Oh God, architect of the universe, creator and preserver of all things, King of Kings and Lord of Lords, Father of us all, I dedicate this organ to Thee.

Son of God, Redeemer of the race, Saviour of men and of nations, the ideal of the ages, perfect man and very God, I dedicate this organ to Thee.

Holy Spirit, teacher, source of spiritual inspiration, invisible leader of the forces of righteousness, sanctifier, comforter, I dedicate this organ to Thee.

God in three persons, blessed trinity, eternal, majestic, beneficent, lovable, all-powerful and all glorious, I dedicate this organ to Thee.

Thou whose unmeasured temple stands
Built over earth and wind-swept sea,
Yet dwell'st in walls that human hands
Have raised, O God Triune, to Thee!

These pipes now to Thy glory stand,
Long may they sound with notes of praise,
And Thou, descending, take command
And glorify this holy place.

COLORFUL THRONG IN PITTSBURGH AWAITS SERIES GAME TODAY

present only a few, still does not attract the "classy clan".

They are here from all corners of the country, sure enough, but they are regulars, not volunteers. Even the visitors seem professionals, somehow. No youth among them, no chattering collegiates, no touring gentility.

Of course, the locals represent the pick of Pittsburgh in all walks. So will they of and in New York when the teams meet there. But I mean the camp followers, those who for some impulse, reason or motive, have come here just for these games. They are not exhuberant sportsmen. Even we reporters feel the difference.

At the ringside in Chicago, a few days ago, we screamed like maniacs. At Louisville we stood breathless and were still trembling at midnight. At the decisive football games we "pull" and go hoarse like any other citizens. But, though it pains me to say it, we do not rise to baseball with more than an academic heart action. And this one looms up as such a dandy series, too.

Ideal Series

New York, always the towering bully of the leading leagues, meeting peppy Pittsburgh, usually up in the money. The Yanks, their bats loaded with T. N. T., and that Pirate pitching crew that throws ghost-balls. It's an ideal contest. Like a master slugger in the ring with a wizard boxer—and still the consciousness that the hitter can defend himself and the boxer packs a wallop.

Look at a few of the vari-colored stars that stand out: Ruth, the Waners, Cuyler, Lazzeri, little Donie Bush, Meadows and Hill—all freaks, yet each a perfect cog in a plu-perfect machine. It should be baseball par excellence from the angle of the wisest sporting cognoscenti and the widest-eyed amateur fan. No freak Merriwell blurb ever approached it for suspense. It lines up like a series in which anything can happen any moment. So—just watch what happens.

I pick the Yanks to clean up in six games. But they should be six bull fights.

HOPE FOR SPEEDY ACTION ON FLOOR CONTROL MEASURE

House Flood Control committee of the last session for November 7 Reid announced that he would go to Cincinnati soon to confer with Speaker Longworth and in the meantime would see Representative Tilson (R.) of Connecticut, Republican leader. Although old house committees legally have no existence until the new congress re-elects them, Reid plans to have the executive committee of the Chicago flood prevention conference and representatives of southern states testify before congress convenes.

Some demands have arisen from members of the Rivers and Harbors committee to be included in any committee consideration of flood control but it was indicated by Reid that his committee would sit alone.

Advised by army engineers that their report on flood prevention will not be available until in December—probably two or three weeks after congress meets—Reid expressed a desire to dispose of all preliminary matters before that report is considered.

Reid who plans a trip into the flood area probably will confer with Mayor Thompson of Chicago before he embarks on his inspection from Peoria about October 15. He praised the work of the Thompson conference in sustaining nation-wide interest in the problem and for its investigations.

FORTY THOUSAND AT FORBES FIELD FOR OPENING GAME

ball. The skies were clear and a welcome sunshine bathed the ball park with warm rays. The temperature was around 70. A mild breeze swept across the playing field which was thoroughly dry after a recent rain.

Promptly at 10 o'clock the bleacher gates were thrown open and fans burst into the park in breat droves. They were mighty glad to get in, too, for at least 2,000 of them had maintained an all night vigil to be on hand when the gates were opened. Within half an hour the bleachers and the temporary seats erected back of the center field fence were completely filled.

Outside the park police were experiencing difficulty maintaining order. Thousands of fans who sought general admission tickets became ill-behaved when the ticket windows were closed and announcement made that all seats were sold. For blocks around the park, the streets were lined with parked automobiles, and people were milling 20 deep in thoroughfares.

Shortly before noon the advance contingent of holders of reserved seats began flowing through the turnstiles and the grandstands filled steadily. There was no doubt that all available space, including the standing room, would be occupied by game time.

Comedians Arrive.

The first men to appear on the field in uniform were Mr. Altrock and Mr. Schact, togged out in Pittsburgh uniforms of gray. The crowd immediately recognized the two famous baseball comedians and Nick and Al were kept extremely busy for five minutes bowing to the cheering multitude.

A splash of color was given to the scene shortly afterward when Director Daniel Nirella's 22-piece band, rigged up in scarlet coats, marched onto the field and started the entertainment for the crowd with lively airs.

Without any compunction, Altrock and Schact quickly usurped the duties of the director and proceeded to lead the band. Acting as a majordomo, Nick paced at the head of the band marching around the ball park. He was forced to halt his contingent in front of the center field bleachers and put on a special show, with music, for the benefit of the $1.10 boys.

Pirates Appear.

At exactly 12:05 the Pirates, attired in brand new white uniforms, black caps and red, black and white stockings came up from their dugout and pranced onto the field amid wild cheers from the fans. Manager Donie Bush at the head of his troupe, carried a satchel filled with baseballs. The Pirates immediately began batting practice. The Waner brothers, Traynor, Clyde Barnhart and other regulars began poling out line drives while a dozen or more Pittsburgh players shagged the balls in the outfield.

At 12:10 the Yanks, led by Babe Ruth, came rushing on the field. There was a tremendous uproar, intermingled with cries of "Oh, you Babe!" The Bambino looked very business-like and got busy tossing a few to Earl Combs. However, the photographers, a score or more in number, immediately surrounded the home run king and for ten minutes he was kept busy posing from every conceivable angle.

The New York Yankees wore their traveling uniforms of gray, with the word "Yankees" across their chests. They wore blue caps and black and gray stockings. While the mob of photographers were taking "shots" of Ruth and Gehrig, many of the Yankees sat in a group along the third base line and watched with keen interest the practice of the Pirates. Some of the New York players had never seen any of their National league opponents in action.

At 1 o'clock the Pirates took the field for batting practice. The attention of the fans was distracted from the practice when Nick Altrock and Al Schacht re-enacted the Tunney-Dempsey fight in a 24 foot ring put up just back of home plate.

Altrock was announced to the crowd as "Tunney." He was given thunderous applause which he acknowledged with upraised gloves, Schacht was "Dempsey." They fought he seventh round all over again, Altrock drew a roar from the throng when he sank groggily to the floor and took a "long count" in slow motion picture style. The ring was then cleared away and the fans turned their attention to the ball players.

Hoyt began warming up for New York, Kremer for Pittsburgh.

The umpires came on the field at 1:25. Traynor, captain of the Pirates, and Charlie O'Leary, coach of the Yankees, went into consultation with them at the plate and presented the lineups of their respective teams.

The game was held up for a few minutes while photographers took pictures of the umpires.

The band played "The Star Spangled Banner" while the stars and stripes were raised in a flagpole in centerfield. Mrs. Daniel Nierelle, wife of the director, sang as the band played and the crowd in the stands stood up with bared heads.

G. O. P. LEADERS LOOK AT FIELD OF POSSIBILITIES

Hughes of New York, and Senator Watson of Indiana. There will be no majority. The convention will go through three or four ballots with some trading. Dawes will reach his maximum strength. If that is a majority, we will have our nominee.

"But if Dawes fails to reach that mark—or even any other man—within a comparatively few ballots, the desire to draft President Coolidge can not be held back. It was true that most of the party leaders do not like the president personally. They want a man who can carry state, county and municipal ticket with him. They know Mr. Coolidge's past record for bringing in a majority and they will fear anything even savoring of the disastroud deadlock the Democrats staged at New York in 1924.

Dawes Or Coolidge.

"It will be Dawes, or it must be Coolidge."

This particular Republican leader explained carefully that the president's sincerity in wanting to withdraw was not doubted. He admitted that those who favored the draft were fearful lest something be done openly to further Mr. Coolidge's candidacy in such a way as to bring forth another statement from the White House.

"One more little shove" he said, "and we couldn't nominate the president if we wanted. If anything is done publicly in his behalf he will issue an amplification of his Rapid City statement and our chance will be lost. We will sit tight, say nothing and work for delegations either uninstructed or pledged to favorite sons. If we can get a nominee in the early ballots, well and good. If not, place a little bet on Calvin Coolidge."

The Republican leaders had breakfast at the White House this morning attaches said it was an informal gathering and no political significance was attached to it.

GEOGRAPHICAL DISCONTENT

WHEN the snow flies people up North go South or yearn for the balmy breezes of the southland and the natives of the South dream of the land of snow and invigorating cold. Each has that which the other wants or thinks he wants. If they were to exchange climatic places the probability is both would soon be clamoring to trade back the new for the old. Those accustomed to one climate may yearn for a change, but they will have difficulty in permanently acclimating themselves.

This fall and winter the northerner will envy the southerner who is envying the northerner, but while both are worrying themselves into a fit of discontent nature is getting in her inevitable work of leveling.

Cold weather brings an epidemic of colds, coughs, pneumonia and the other ills associated with winter. It will make life outdoors uncomfortable but will make work indoors a pleasure. At the same time there will be malaria down South, the bugs and heat will make life outdoors uncomfortable and work inside even less comfortable. Man must decide for himself which he prefers.

It is asking the impossible to ask mankind to entertain continual contentment. Man's natural and chronic discontent is the impetus for the world's progress. The thing that can be wished for is that men and women will not waste their dissatisfaction on the weather or climate but adapt themselves to those conditions provided by nature and use their energy in making those conditions more bearable.

Children play as hard and as happily in all kinds of weather. There is no valid reason why adults can not succeed as well in adapting themselves to conditions.

LESS JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

KING CANUTE might have been more successful in compelling the waves to retreat if he had had a few facts to hurl at them instead of his mere royal command. Modern "waves" have a way of collapsing before the statistical test.

Figures compiled by life insurance companies and government agencies a few months ago quickly dispelled the mistaken idea, then quite general, that the nation was witnessing a "suicide wave" among juveniles. The facts, however, came too late to prevent the waste of inestimable energy in attempts to explain the wave that wasn't.

Despite sensational reports to the contrary, dependable statistics show juvenile delinquency is on the decline, even in the larger centers of population. Nine cities have fewer juvenile criminals today than they had ten years ago and only four report an increase in that period. The reports to the contrary no doubt have issued forth from the imaginations of those who have met rebuffs in their presumptuous efforts to inflict upon modern youth what they think is good for them.

While juvenile delinquency is declining, it is a fact that maladjusted childhood remains one of the chief recruiting grounds for crime. In the last two years 16 per cent of those arraigned in the courts of New York city were between the ages of 16 and 25 years. Of the inmates at Sing Sing 46 per cent are under 25 years of age.

Among the causes contributing to the lower delinquency rate probably are to be reckoned prosperity and restricted immigration. Improved conditions in the home, as reflected in higher wages and fewer working hours for the head of the house, operate against juvenile misdemeanor. And it has been observed that the immigrant population has been the source of most juvenile delinquency.

FAME AND TRADE-MARKS

LIVE statesmen have at least one advantage over dead ones. They may be criticized, cartooned, pilloried. They may be plied with the most venemous political satire. They may be charged, at least in the privileged halls of congress, with corrupt disregard of their patriotic obligations. But under a federal statute no one, without their consent, may use their picture in a trade-mark. Their name can be taken in vain, but not their face.

Dead notables are not accorded this protection under the law. Their name and fame may be commercialized at will, and exclusively. An Italian olive oil importer was refused permission to use the bust of the Italian patriot, Giuseppe Mazzini, in his trade-mark, not on patriotic grounds, but because another countryman of Mazzini was using his likeness on the labels of his tomato paste, effervescent salts and malt extract.

American presidents and lesser statesmen have suffered a like fate. Perhaps the reason that more of them haven't is simply that the necessary good-will would attach only to a universally acknowledged hero. A businessman must be careful about the company his products keep, even with the heroic dead. One today can find the likenesses and names of such national heroes as Washington and Lincoln upon everything from groceries to automobiles. And no doubt some Vermont producer of maple syrup is awaiting the day when he may christen his product Coolidge Brand Pure Vermont Maple Syrup.

There is something a bit melancholy about this effort to ride to material success on the glory of the departed great. How much nobler the ancient tradition of pride in one's own name and make. But nowadays it takes years of good service or a million-dollar advertising campaign to make a trade name famous, unless an already famous name is adopted.

It isn't too much talk about religion that keeps people from church, but too little.

Blessed are the meek. How an important man suffers when the public won't share his good opinion of himself!

Where would the most of us be today had it not been for a little bit of Sunday school training when we were kids, and mother made us attend whether we wanted to or not. You know!

Sometimes a quartet is nothing but four-flushers.

The K. K. of West Virginia has gone on record as being against Al Smith for President. We don't think Al was figuring on that support, anyhow.

A lot of the old front teeth will have to be tightened up, now that the green corn season is over.

It cost Erie county 17 cents a day to feed its prisoners in the county jail during September. We are betting that no pie or poundcake was fed to those babies during that time, unless they were brought in by admiring and more fortunate friends.

About thirty thousand glass workers are on a strike in the United States just now for more wages. We are betting that some of them are not able to see through it all.

Breaking a mirror or a law may mean seven years of bad luck.

We agree with a former United States senator who declared that there is a great lack of charity in the world today. We think we are safe in making the assertion that not half of the people give a cuss how the rest of the world gets along. We think we are putting it high, at that. It's tough to have to depend upon very many people.

Some thirty people are accused of trying to kill the king of Spain. The king naturally resents it. If there ever was a human who had a good time we think it has been the kink of Spain and we do not blame him for not wanting to get plinked.

Barber: "No, I guess not. You see, I have only been here a year."

All the seacoast bathing beaches have been closed since Labor Day, and the unprecedented hot weather since that time has caused many of the bathhouse owners to experience something like heart disease. You will remember it was a cool summer and bathhouses were not a good investment. They did not open up because they were afraid it would snow on the night of a hot day.

Since those Indians out West have come into a lot of money from their oil holdings there are some people who no longer believe the only good Indian is a dead Indian.

THIS COMES FROM NEW WILMINGTON

People in New Wilmington and vicinity have received a circular recently which in our humble opinion is a good one. We are reproducing it below:

New Wilmington, Pa., Oct. 1, 1923.
Dear Friend:

It has been truly said that if you spend a dollar at home it may come back to you and you may get a chance to spend it again, while if you spend a dollar away from home it is gone forever.

This fact is forcibly brought to our attention every day, and it usually works out in this manner: the bank furnishes the money for a payroll; the money is paid in wages to the employees; the employees, in turn, hand the money over to the grocer, the butcher and others too numerous to mention. The money then comes to the bank and is probably loaned to some man to be used locally—perhaps for the erection of some building or a home. It is again paid out as wages or for material and so makes the rounds again, furnishing employment and adding to the prosperity of the men and women of New Wilmington. On the other hand, when a dollar is spent away from home or deposited in a bank in some other city it goes into other channels and adds to the prosperity of some other community.

The First National Bank of New Wilmington believes that its continued success over a long period of years has been due largely to the fact that it has always encouraged and aided local enterprise and has assisted worthy men and women of this community to financial advancement. It has, at all times, kept the welfare of the community at heart. This policy of co-operation has resulted in added prosperity to the community and the success of this banking institution. From experience we know that this policy of helpfulness has been the right one, as it has played no small part in the development in and about New Wilmington.

In this connection the thought occurred to us that if all men and women would adopt this same policy and favor the home merchants and enterprises whenever possible, it would not only be reflected in a more prosperous community, but they, in turn, would add to their own financial well-being.

Yours for a better, bigger and more prosperous community.

Sincerely,
FIRST NATIONAL BANK,
H. T. Getty, Cashier.

Tailors can do almost anything except make an important man look that way in pajamas.

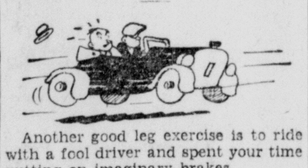

A great many members of the American Legion are returning from the convention held in Paris very happy, though broke. They came home once before happy and broke also. They sure showed the French that they were real people, anyhow.

Your life may be an open book, but there are all kinds of books.

No man is old until he needs a shave about half the time.

When it does get cold you will find it will be real cold. It is the time of the year for cold, so make your plans accordingly.

One of the nicest compliments that can be paid to a human is when his or her name is called out in the assignment of cards in a Community Chest advance gift meeting and have about half of those present make a grab for the card. It's quite different when no one makes a move.

Next week a great event is scheduled for New Castle in the meeting of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School association in annual convention. About four thousand of the best people of Pennsylvania will be here. Our fellow citizen, of whom we feel proud, P. L. Craig is the president of the wonderful organization. Every citizen of New Castle should do all he can to make the visit of this great number of strangers pleasant. Be on the lookout to do something nice if you get a chance. It is going to be more than wonderful.

A Maryland mortican claims that the undertaking profession is overcrowded. What with airplanes, poison whisky and auto accidents, the only way we know to increase the death rate now would be to have congress pass a higher one. Make it part of the tariff or something of that kind.

Some men like to have a skate on even in the summer time.

It wouldn't be much fun if everybody agreed on everything, anyhow.

The first taxicab appeared in the streets of Jerusalem. The orient appears to be getting modern and the people there are fast coming to the idea that they can save time by hurrying.

A noted New York doctor declares that the kind of booze the average drinker takes into his system ages him five years in one, even if it doesn't take his life of cause blindness. But in spite or such warnings which are backed by science there are many who still take a chance and drink it.

The young lady who won the national beauty contest recently does not smoke, bob her hair, drink tea or coffee or eat pickles. And that, girls is the way to win a bathing contest, provided you have a good looking bathing suit.

A man we heard of paid $238 for what he supposed to be a case of bootleg whisky and got home to find it was nothing but bricks. This happened in a city, and this same man was afterwards heard to laugh at the old joke about the rubes who buy gold bricks.

It even requires horse sense to buy an automobile, we are reminded by a smart guy. It can, however, be accomplished by dollars and sense.

Another day we never expected to live to see but did, was the one when our bosom would swell with pride as we contemplated the Ohio crowd and its record, and we find we can swell her up quite a little any day now by reading some more about Indiana.

Roger Babson predicts that the next president of the United States will have a lot of troubles. But with millions of troubles in the offing there are ambitious ones who are willing to take a chance with the presidency.

Those people who are inclined to be musical can enjoy a treat by attending the public organ recital this evening at the Scottish Rite auditorium. Firmin Swinnen is one of the world's best organists and this is likely the only opportunity New Castle will ever have to hear him.

Hunters are kindly asked to take note of this: If it doesn't wear a vest, necktie, a mustache, or a hat and doesn't smoke a pipe, it probably is a cow.

It is now impossible for a person under the age of 16 years to get married in Pennsylvania, even with the consent of parents. This is one of the new laws of the state that became effective on October 1. We do not know how many under this age get married but it is far too young. The age of discretion comes at about 40 but discretion needs no restrictive laws.

Resist That Impulse.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 5.—If an impulse to sell things short moves you, resist it. When the able Mr. Mitchell, head of a big Chicago trust company, said Wall Street was going too fast, and held up a warning finger, this column asked how much he would charge for a year's "call" on 10,000 shares of General Motors.

Yesterday General Motors went to 277 1-2, new "high" for all time, and it climbed in good company. New York Central broke its price record, also Canadian Pacific, Chicago and Northwestern and the big Dupont Company.

Invest wisely, within your means, and never gamble. For gambling will break you, as surely as many other stocks are going to break their records. Whatever you do, don't sell short. And don't let old-fashioned conservatism scare you to death.

Old Vanderbilt said when New York's elevated railroad was suggested "the American people may be fools, but not fools enough to ride in the air." Jay Gould knew enough to take over the road and made millions.

The American Federation of Labor, meeting here in Los Angeles, will undoubtedly re-elect its successful head, Mr. Green. The American Federation has 2,812,457 union men paying rgularly. There are 106 national and international unions, and 29,394 local unions, including all kinds of workers, beginning with actors associated and ending with wire weavers.

"Overalls and white collars" will soon be combined. The man with overalls now earns enough to wear a white collar in the evening. And soon, under the Ford five-day week plan, he will wear overalls five days and a white collar, with swallow tail coat attached, if he wants to, over week-ends.

Let's hope he will use part of his leisure time reading and thinking.

The Japanese race is taller, boys and girls. Erroneously attributed to gymnastic exercises, the greater height is due largely to the fact that many Japanese eat meat instead of rice. Japan was compelled to feed her soldiers meat to get western marching efficiency. A horse can't race on grass or a man on rice.

The British for a while stunted their children with labor in the factories and mills, occasionally starving them to provide small "chimney sweeps".

The British have stopped that, but not this country. Plenty of child labor here.

You can't realize dimly, this country's wealth, as you travel from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The stock ticker's story means only the guess of the speculators, plus definite statements of dividends and a few secrets leaking from those that know.

One page of a newspaper here devoted to news of mines and oils, says:
"New Gold Rush in Nevada."
"Oil Rush Begun to New Center."
"Strike of Lead-Zinc Reported."
"Discovery of the New Oil Pool."
etc.

Wealth surrounds us in every direction. Across the Mexican border, since 1901, the amount of oil taken out is 1,434,810,500 barrels. There is wealth even greater across the Canadian continent.

We are rich here in America.

And we are frightfully wasteful and slow to repair waste. This city of more than a million people has reached its limit of water supply.

And nearby the Colorado river wastes, every day more than one hundred times the total amount of water that Los Angeles uses, pouring it into the Gulf of California.

London criticizes the American Legion visit. "Too much America" is the complaint. There has been no allusion to "too much American money."

The English are a wonderful people, but they change "complexes" rapidly.

Before 1914 they had a superiority complex, thought themselves better than others. After having their "backs to the wall" a while, they switched to an "inferiority complex", which now afflicts them.

FEAR—

Is the cause of most egotism.
Is the first sign of weakness.
Is the instinct of self-preservation gone mad.
Is the stuff that war is made of.
Is the mother of cowardice and cruelty.
Is the enemy of all true progress.
Of God is the poorest form of piety.

Edwin T. Meredith who is considered in some quarters as the possible choice of the "dry" wing of the Democratic party for the Presidency, is a publisher of Des Moines, Iowa, and one of the prominent figures in agricultural and business circles in the middle West. He is a native of Avoca, Iowa. After leaving school he went to work for his grandfather, who was publishing a weekly newspaper in Des Moines. In 1902 Mr. Meredith established a farm paper, and was soon recognized as a business leader as well as a champion of agricultural improvement. Upon the outbreak of the war he was sent to Europe on a special commission by President Wilson. Later he became Secretary of Agriculture in the Wilson Cabinet. He was also, during the war period, a member of the Excess Profits Commission.

SAINT FRANCIS

At the national encampment of the Bohemian Club at Bohemian Grove was held a pageant in honor of St. Francis Assisi, after whom San Francisco was named. Lawrence Tibbett, of Metropolitan opera fame, sang the leading role, that of St. Francis Assisi. There were 165 characters, all of them played by members of the club.

Saint Francis has always been the one saint of the church of whom I am particularly fond. He represnted the spirit of Christianity.

His business was loving. He truly was a great lover and loved everything, including the inanimate objects of nature.

The stories about him are very beautiful, how the birds came to hear him preach and the little wild animals ran to him for refuge. Some men seem to understand and to attract the animals, and Saint Francis was one of them. He spent his whole life in the business of doing good. His one marriage was to espouse her whom he called Lady of Poverty, and his conduct with all men was such as we would expect from a true Christian.

Many of the saints were combative in their nature. Perhaps that was necessary in their time, but this saint devoted himself to the one thing that will eventually save mankind, and that is love.

He even composed a hymn to the sun, speaking of him as our brother Sun, for he claimed kinship to all things that God had made. That is going the evolutionists one better.

Love is a peculiar thing. It is the toughest thing in the world. It will outlast all hate. Suppressed in one place it will come up in another. It performs herculean tasks, tasks that are impossible.

It did away with human slavery among civilized peoples and with dueling. In time it will do away with war.

No man can make a mistake by committing himself to love and taking such a man as Saint Francis Assisi for his patron.

Douglas Malloch says:

"Steel will break or steel will hold,
but love is never broken.
Even when the heart is cold, the final word is spoken.
Threads of gold may seem to rend,
but love will yet discover
That nothing's final to a friend nor ended to a lover."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

GOLF COURTESY

The golf season in New Castle is about over after the Club Championship is decided. The frosts have come. But the Enthusiastic will play until the blankets of snow envelop the course. It is just as timely now as at any other time, to speak of golf etiquette.

A playing friend of mine who is the soul of courtesy, has written something for me concerning this that every golfer should read, and I am giving it publicity here.

"Golf discloses more of the 'Old Boy' than any other activity—sport or business."

"Etiquette is cousin to that noble phrase,—'Drop heart's blood where the wheels of life grate dry.'"

"On the links, as elsewhere, it is oil in the crank case."

"Holding up the course.' Note the suggestion of highwayman in that phrasing. It is not wholly undeserved."

"The 'field' is helpless, and though he may not realize it the player who does not observe the courtesies does in fact literally 'hold up' the entire course."

"It is the occasion of more unhappiness probably than all the other breaches combined. Most clubs minimize the grief by controlling the starting and policing the course on busy days. The players could do much if they would."

"The excessive waggler might remember that he is entitled to three waggles, and the other thirty he takes on each shot come out of the time of the other players in his foursome, if they are to hold their place."

"Hopelessly deliberate players should avoid playing in the same foursome. My team mate is the fastest player in the club. (There are other reasons why I like him for a partner.)"

"Which reminds me—four fast players can upset a course just as much as four slow ones. Golf is not a Marathon."

"The most frequent occasion for delay and irritation is the lost ball. The proper procedure is thoroughly known to every man on the course. When the players following have caught up and the ball is not found, the player whose ball is lost must signal them to go through. But that takes more,—what would you call it—than most players possess."

"I never could understand the fanatic greed men have to hold their place. It is very general. The player whose ball is lost, knows that the other players in his group want to hold their place, and he wants to hold it, and somehow they manage to divide up the responsibility for failing to comply with the code and thereby keep their self-respect. They are the losers. They do not play as well when they have been discourteous (unless they are hard-boiled) and they lose time along with all the rest of the field."

"Players who are so keen to hold their places can help to that end if they will all, players and caddies, mark every ball that leaves the course and all go directly to where it disappeared. This is a refinement of courtesy that would make a hit and speed up the play, but it won't be tried."

"The next time your ball is lost and the players following are waiting if you will signal them to come through you will get an approval from your own gizzard that will surprise you."

Courtesy, like virtue, is its own reward.

Bible Thought For Today

A SECRET RETREAT:—Hear my voice, O God, in my prayer: preserve my life. Hide me from the secret counsel of the wicked. Psalm 64:1, 2.

PRAYER:—My soul, wait thou only upon God, for my expectation is from Him.

One Year Ago

With a fire raging in its hold and with nearly 700 persons aboard, the Greek Line steamship Byron fought its way to New York.

Fortunately the dead can't come back, so we'll never know it when future historians judge us by our popular songs.

C. B. D. CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

IN NEW YORK

G. D. Eaton is editor of the newest magazine, Plain Talk. Eaton is an interesting character, and something of a fire-eater. He edited a college publication at the University of Michigan which got him into all manner of trouble with the faculty. Upon graduation, he spurned the Phi Beta Kappa Key, an honor widely sought after by most collegians. The fiery publications and the Phi Beta gesture gained the young man some valuable publicity.

Just out of school, Eaton landed a very independent job as literary editor of the Morning Telegraph, in New York. He used his independence mightily, and smote about him so thunderously that his page attracted a good deal of attention.

When the Morning Telegraph was consolidated with a horse-racing daily, horses took the place of books, and Eaton was out of a job. For many months he remained that way, filling in part of the time by running a provocative department of literary comment in McNaught's Monthly.

Eaton goes in for principles, and is addicted to such causes as free speech and constitutional guarantees. While he was out of a job and recovering from illness, he refused several jobs that most literary fellows would have thought most attractive, because the work he would have to do did not qualify as useful to his principles.

Only a foolish prophet would attempt to predict success or failure for a magazine in New York. Some chicks that look most unlikely upon hatching grow to be fighting cocks of great renown. Some that are hatched with fanfares are destined to early oblivion.

The first number of Plain Talk looks promising. It reads interestingly. That's all this prophet will say about it.

The new Bookman, under the editorship of Burton Rascoe, got handsome press notices, and seems to have garnered the good will of most of the literary folk. It, too, is a very interesting and good-looking publication, with good editorial work shining through.

Magazines, in fact, are improving marvelously. The new generation of magazine editors exhibits a great deal more individuality and independence than the old generation that made the great magazines of yesterday.

Gilfillan Case Is Argued In Supreme Court

Question Of Authority Of City Under Zoning Rules Is At Stake

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5.—Whether J. Clyde Gilfillan, New Castle, will be permitted to erect a storage house on Class B lots in New Castle, adjacent to his planing mill which lies in a secondary business district, will soon be decided by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

Arguments before the Supreme Court brought out the fact that the New Castle city engineer had refused to grant Gilfillan a permit to erect the structure. On an appeal to the Board of Appeals the city engineer's action had been upheld.

Gilfillan appealed to the common pleas court of Lawrence county. Judge R. L. Hildebrand decided in favor of Gilfillan, but the city had intervened in the suit, and appealed the case to the Supreme Court, first carrying it to the Superior Court.

The oral arguments dealt with the technical rights of the city to zone districts, restricting the type of structures permissible within certain zones.

A decision in the case was not expected to be handed down for three or four weeks.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

WRITES OF TRIP

SENECA, Ill., Oct. 5, 1927.

Editor News:

On September 22 we left New Castle for a motor trip to Illinois. On getting to Lowellville, we struck a hard road and from there on we had hard, even roads until we reached our destination.

Western Ohio and Indiana is a lovely country. In Indiana they have the best corn that I have even seen, and it is also a good wheat growing country. When I stopped to ask a boy the way, he told me that they often have thirty to forty acres in one field, which yields from twenty to thirty bushels to the acre.

Apples and pears and other fruits are very plentiful in Indiana, but when one enters Illinois, one gets into the real corn belt.

I am working for the Grasselli Powder company, and they are building a new plant near Seneca, which is a town of about 1,200 inhabitants in the valley of the Illinois river. To stand on the river bridge and look up and down would delight the heart of an artist. The broad, shining river, fringed with green and willows is a pretty sight. Seneca is one of the finest towns that I ever was in. The Rock Island Railroad goes through here. We have two grain elevators and two banks in town.

On our way to Seneca, we stopped at a Black Fox farm. There were over 200 black foxes in the yard of the farm. Some of them were black as a crow, while others were silver grey.

Before leaving New Castle, I subscribed to The News, and when I get the paper, it is like getting a letter from home.

Yours,
HARLAND WALTERS.

LOST IN THE GREAT WOODS

Peter, dear children, is a little boy who knows all the animals of the forest as his playmates and friends. You see, Peter is a very unusual boy, for he possesses the magic power of speech with all the beasts of the forest, the birds of the air, and the tiny creatures of the field. A long time ago, Peter saved the life of the Old Oak Tree and in gratitude the tree gave Peter this wonderful power.

Usually Peter can find his way about the woods easily, but today he is confused.

"I DON'T KNOW WHERE I AM NOR WHICH WAY TO TURN TO GET OUT"

Yes, indeed, Peter was lost in the Great Woods. There wasn't a doubt about it. Grown tired of exploring, the boy had dropped down upon the soft leaves, pillowed his head upon a clump of gray moss and fallen sound asleep. He must have slept for a long time, for when he awoke the shadows were lengthening upon the ground and it was dusky where the trees were thickest.

"The shortest way home for me," cried the boy, and choosing the path to the right, started merrily off. And he walked and walked and walked, but no nearer did he come to the edge.

"The farther I walk the deeper into the woods I seem to get," said he. "The way in seemed but a short distance. Surely I can't have mistaken the path. Ah! Light ahead now! I must be near the clover field at last."

Peter hurried to what he thought was the border of the Great Woods.

Then he suddenly stopped.

In front of him was a clearing where the trees were thin, and where in the center of the clearing was the self-same clump of gray moss which he had used as a pillow, and and in the heap of leaves beside it he could see the hollow made by his warm, weary little body.

"Whew!" cried he, and he gave a long, low whistle of surprise. "I have been walking in a circle, and I am right back at the spot I started from."

Laughing at the joke he had played upon himself, Peter tried his luck again. He walked and walked and walked, but not a sign of the clover field did he discover. Instead, the trees became thicker and the shadows deeper. At last Peter halted and looked about him, and now he didn't feel quite so merry.

"I am lost!" said Peter, soberly. "I took one path and it led me back to the place where I started from, and now I am following another that but takes me farther away from where I want to go.

"I don't know where I am and haven't the least idea which way to turn to get out.

"Looks to me though I'd have to spend the night in the Great Woods. I don't like the idea very well. It is so spooky among the shadows. Pooh! What a silly I am! What's there to be afraid of?"

WIRE KILLS YOUTH

BALTIC, O., Oct. 5.—Owen Schlegel, 14, who fell from a peach tree, at his home, was found dead in a wire fence, where he is believed to have strangled while trying to extricate himself. The lad's mother, Mrs. Edward Schlegel, found the body. He had stayed home from school to pick peaches.

That boy who killed his parents because they argued too much was much like a nation giving the blessings of civilization to an undeveloped people.

The Daybook OF A New Yorker

BY BURTON RASCOE

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The best roller skating place in New York has been discovered by kids in the neighborhood of the new court house, down in Lafayette street. After hours, the broad sidewalk and pavement surrounding this big white building are alive with whizzing small people. The court house is on the fringe of the tenement section fed by Chinatown and the Bowery, and its walks provide a grand playground.

At Curtis field, Mineola, L. I., the other day, I saw Roger Wolfe Kahn, the son of the financier, buzz up to his plane in a humble motorcycle. Probably his father's stable is packed with proud cars. . . . At Curtis field, women in bungalow aprons come up to celebrities, such as Frau Rasch and Ruth Elder, asking them to pose for amateur photographs. This aeroplane business seems to be managed most casually. . . There is no section formally roped off for landing purposes, and since a plane may taxi an unconscionable length before coming to rest, great danger really menaces the crowd of avid sightseers. I saw a grandpa anxiously snatch his charge from the very teeth of a propeller blade.

The world's most chivalrous suitor is a young New Yorker who chafes at the restrictions of modern civilization, and, longing to do something to show his devotion to his lady, begged her to say what he might smuggle her when he came back from Canada. The lady hates hard liquor but said, coyly, that she was awfully fond of Cointreau. Her suitor was traveling with his uncle, a terribly proper and apprehensive old man, in the latter's conservative automobile. And so he had to be terrifically elaborate in his preparations for getting the stuff by the customs. He bought a long, flat flask, strapped it with adhesive tape to his foreleg, and wore baggy plus fours as further camouflage. Of course, it worked. But, low, when he attempted to remove the flask, large chunks of skin came off with the tape. He told the girl about his sufferings when he produced the Cointreau, and she shuddered ever after when he suggested that they go swimming. She appreciated the mediaeval tortures he'd endured, but didn't want to see evidence of them. The tag to the story is that the brave man's rival came up to the girl's apartment one evening when she wasn't in, drank up the liqueur to assuage his boredom, and later complained to her of "the bad gin!"

No one who lives in the average small city house or apartment can understand the difficulties of the young couple who find themselves with a baby in downtown New York. I know some young people who live in darkest Greenwich Village, and who just last week brought their son and heir back from the hospital. They have two rooms, a sitting room which also serves as a dining room, and a tiny bedroom. The kitchenette hasn't a sink, so all dishes have to be done in the bathroom sink. There is no porch or balcony of any kind on which to park the baby, so the nurse-by-the-day has to carry the child up and down stairs to its carriage, which is left in the basement. The baby's mother told my wife yesterday that the people who live in the first apartment (it is in one of those converted brownstone fronts) object to having the "little garments" hung on the line in the infinitesimal back yard. They consider this sad patch their garden, and have an iron table and chairs out there, and entertain their guests at tea. It seems as if the business of having a baby were made as hard as possible for people in New York. Obviously, if these bewildered young parents can get out of their lease and move either to Brooklyn or to an apartment in Westchester county or Long Island, they will better themselves as well as their baby.

The most distracted woman in Grand Central station the other day was a white-faced woman who babbled to the station master: "But he's such a bright little fellow. . . I'm sure he'll find his way back. I'd just turned around for a minute, and he was gone. . ." I swallowed a lump as big as a baseball as I realized what she must be feeling, hunting for a lost child in that labyrinth of shops and exits and subway gates.

REV. G. A. LEICHLITER
Buffalo, N. Y.

Especial attention is called to the two great public mass meetings which will be held in the First Methodist church in the afternoon and evening. At these meetings the finest musical program ever offered at a meeting in New Castle will be rendered.

In the afternoon, the great festival chorus of more than 350 voices, under the direction of Prof. Paul Brown Patterson, will sing. This is the first public appearance of this marvelous chorus which is made up of men and women singers of note.

Special duet numbers of G. A. Leichliter and Peter Quartel will all be noteworthy. The address of the day will be given by G. A. Leichliter of Buffalo, N. Y.

And at the great mass meeting in the evening a Community song service will be held led by a chorus of 125 voices, assisting the regular church choir under the direction of Prof. W. W. Campbell, and a 30-piece orchestra augmented by the great pipe organ of the church, when the old familiar spiritual songs will be sung. After the song service Rev. Leichliter will speak.

Watch the New Castle News later for complete announcements concerning these meetings.

Jail Is Crowded; Some Prisoners Sleep On Floor

Sheriff Reynolds Has Largest Family Since Assuming Charge Of Office

For the first time since Sheriff H. M. Reynolds took charge of the county jail, it is filled to capacity. There are at present 55 prisoners. Last night it was necessary for the sheriff to make beds for two of the prisoners on the floor of one of the corridors as there was no room in the cells. Two of the cells are being used for the storage of the ballots cast at the last November election. When they are removed there will be a little more room.

The condition is all the more unusual in view of the fact that the September term of criminal court has just closed and all but two of the prisoners sentenced to other institutions have been removed.

A number of those now in jail were sentenced to serve from 30 days to four months at the recent term of court. As it will be more than two months until the December term of court it is likely that the crowded condition of the jail will increase. A majority of the prisoners now in jail are there for violations of the liquor laws and for driving automibiles while under the influence of liquor.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

REBUKES LOCAL AUDIENCES

New Castle, Pa., Oct. 5, 1927.

EDITOR NEWS:

New Castle, Pa.

DEAR SIR:—

I had the good fortune to have a friend who invited me to attend with her the recital at the Scottish Rite Cathedral last evening and I want to say that I enjoyed every minute of it—it was a veritable feast of music—but figuratively speaking, there was a fly in the ointment, that being that we were seated in front of two middleaged women who kept up a running fire of inconsequential chatter. In the light of their actions, I was led to wonder how long it had been since they had last seen each other. Were I to draw my own conclusions, I would say that six months at least had elapsed since they had been together and that they expected another six months to pass before they would have another opportunity to hold friendly communion, and also that the only place they had to exchange confidences was in the auditorium of the Scottish Rite Cathedral. I wondered last evening and I am still wondering why in the name of reason, some people attend a musical recital.

Imagine—if you attend the recital you do not need to imagine, but if you did not, imagine an artist seated at the keyboard of a most magnificent organ; the vast auditorium of the Cathedral filled with people; a rapt silence over most parts of the house; and yourself being carried away on a sea of melody by the majectic chords, the beautiful and tender harmonies, and the hauntingly sweet strains evoked from that wonderful instrument by the hand of a master; and then imagine your annoyance at the sibilant hiss of a whispered conversation marring the perfection of the hour, with such mundane fragments of that conversation, "Him and I used to be good pals—"; "I went down in my bathrobe—"; "She teaches in—"; "What time did you get home last night?" and "Ain't that pretty?" making themselves heard. Great shades of Beethoven, how did they know whether the number was pretty or not? I don't see how they could possibly have heard it, and if they did think it pretty (such an inadequate word) why not wait until the number was finished and then rhapsodize?

There is nothing that makes me simply seethe with indignation as the discourtesy of such thoughtless people—gross discourtesy not only to the entertainer, but to one's fellow beings. If I did not care for the nature of an entertainment that was to be given certainly would not attend simply because I could go free; but if I did go, I would feel that common courtesy demanded that I consider the desire of others who attended from a sincere wish to hear.

This is not the first time that I have been so annoyed and I suppose it will not be the last, but at least I have had the satisfaction of expressing my views, and I only hope that the persons who were 'the proverbial straw' and occasioned this outburst on my part, will see this epistle and stop and exercise their mental powers.

There is one other deplorable feature that I have noticed when attending any entertainment either in the Cathedral or the Junior High School, and that is that during the last number, people from all parts of the house get up and make their exit in order to avoid the crowd; to my mind this is very discourteous for no matter how quietly one tries to go out, when quite a number take the notion at the same time, it makes considerable confusion. The crowds are large, I know, but it is only a matter of fifteen or twenty minutes more to wait, and I don't think it will hurt any of us to rub shoulders with our fellow men for that space of time. Of course, some folks may have corns and that may account for their haste in departing before the crowd starts to disperse, but even so, I don't think that will excuse discourtesy.

I hear some one say, "Oh, you are a crank." Well, if the firm belief that a little of the oil of courtesy, poured on the wheels of the machinery of daily contact, would make the whole complicated machine of life move more smoothly, then I may state unqualifiedly that I am a crank and glory in the fact. I had rather be that kind of a crank than several other kinds of a pest.

Trusting that you can give this letter space in the paper I am,

Sincerely,

MRS. GEO. L. HENDERSON,
606 Chestnut Street.

Witnesses today were to be physicians who attended Poppelo before his death, Justice of the Peace Joe Politca of Shamokin, to whom the girl surrendered, and others who were expected to give technical testimony.

Magruder Raps Naval Setup, But Does It In "Proper" Way

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder certainly is in considerable disfavor with his fellow officers of Uncle Sam's sea establishment, on account of the rough things he recently said about the navy, but the feeling against him is nothing to compare with the army's againstCol. "Billy" Mitchell, at the time of the latter's aviation outbreak—and even yet, for that matter, though some of the edge was taken off from it, in the colonel's case, by the satisfaction his outraged associates got out of bouncing him from the service.

Magruder found fault with the navy, to be sure, but, after all, he didn't say it ought to be abolished. He said it has too many officers, but not 100 percent too many. Mitchell put it that surface armies and navies alike are obsolete—absolutely—and that all connected with them are out-and-out parasites, except possibly a few orderlies, to run errands for airmen.

Naval officers speak in a hurt tone of what they term the "injustice" of Magruder's criticism. Army officers called Mitchell names that couldn't be printed.

Another very important difference between Magruder and Mitchell—

Magruder got into the navy through the professionals' entrance—Annapolis—and won his way upward from commission to commission. Mitchell rose from the ranks, in the army.

Theoretically army and navy officers draw no distinction between the original West Point or Annapolis product and the former enlisted man who has earned his shoulder straps. Probably they don't intend to, but practically the former's "one of us," while the latter, at best, is no "old college chum" anyway. At worst, though nobody will refer to him as an "upstart," it obviously is impossible to keep anybody who thinks so from thinking just that.

Magruder, too, can be called on—in fact, he has been, informally, and undoubtedly will be given an opportunity later—to prove his charges, and if he can't do it, he'll have to back water.

Admiral Sims placed himself in a similar position a good many years ago. He made all kinds of fun of American naval marksmanship, Col. Roosevelt, who was at the helm then, promptly summoned him to improve it, and Sims, given the necessary authority, did improve it.

There's something tangible about complaints like Sim's and Magruder's. They can be tested. If they don't stand the test, the navy chortles, of course. If they do, it has, even against the grain, to admit it.

Moreover, Magruder and Sims are navy men, criticizing the navy, on which they're experts, and doing it in parliamentary language.

Mitchell, on the other hand, an army officer, was especially severe in his strictures on the ocean fighting force, and he used such expressions as "criminal," which were interpreted as not only injurious but insulting.

The army personnel were sorer about it than the navy's, and an affront put, by one of their own number, on the sister service.

And Mitchell's claims—even a bystander can see it—can't be tried out with certainty.

Under peace conditions, with a plane, he can sink unresisting, anchored ships, but nobody knows what he could do against a vessel which put up a fight, and a real experiment's impossible. It would be sure to kill somebody, which wouldn't do deliberately—in mere maneuvers. Military folks hold overwhelmingly that the ship would win 99 times in 100.

So it's a mistake to compare the Mitchell and Magruder cases. Mitchell lost his scalp. There isn't a chance that Magruder will.

Pedestrians Should Walk On Left And Also Carry Light

New Motor Laws of Pennsylvania require pedestrians walking along the State Highways to carry a light at night and to walk on the left, facing traffic and single file.

The majority of motor laws naturally deal with motorists and their cars but there is one clause of the law that refers especially to pedestrians. In brief this clause is "Pedestrians when walking along highways should travel single file facing traffic and at night carry a light." In reference to pedestrians in towns and cities it says that "Every pedestrian crossing a highway within a business or residence district at any point other than a pedestrian crossing, crosswalk or intersection shall yield the right-of-way to vehicles upon the highway."

It has been found that, although the common custom for pedestrians was to travel to the right, it is much safer to travel on the left edge of the highway and face the oncoming traffic. Thus if a car approaching comes too near a pedestrian can easily step off the road out of danger. Also to walk single file is safer and gives room for motor cars to pass without fear of accident.

At night pedestrians should carry a light. We have seen quite a number of pedestrians carrying a flash light which they flash when a motorist approaches and thus warns them that some one is there. Without a light one is in much danger of being run down. It is very hard for a motorist to see a pedestrian along the road especially if he at the same time meets another car and the lights partly blind him.

The clause of the law with relation of pedestrians crossing a highway in congested areas at any other place than a regular crossing makes the pedestrian liable to any injury that might happen to him if struck by a machine.

When to Suspect Acid Scalp

It isn't age that dulls the hair. Nor frequent washing or curling. If your hair lacks all life and lustre, it may be due to a condition you can correct in twenty-four hours. Acid scalp.

Neutralize the acid secretions of the scalp, and your hair will have the lovely sheen that makes any hair so attractive. A few drops of Danderine will do this; and as its name implies, Danderine is a scientific dandruff dissolvent. Five minutes after Danderine is applied, every particle of dandruff has been dissolved!

Acid scalp should be suspected if your hair is at all stiff or stringy, or won't hold a wave. Another sign—not so easily detected in one's self—is an acrid odor to the hair when it is warm, or after exercise. And for thirty-five cents at any drugstore, you can get a bottle of Danderine that will keep your hair soft and sweet and "on its good behavior" for weeks!

Invest in an Industry That You Know

IN seeking a dependable investment, it is the sensible course to give preference to the securities of an industry with which you are familiar. Knowledge of the workings of a certain business is of very definite advantage to you as an investor.

The electric light and power business of your community is one about which you can acquire intimate knowledge. The property is right where you can see it and you have every opportunity to learn how it is managed and operated. When you become an investor you know for what purpose your money is being used.

No other industry is more essential than the business of serving a busy, thriving industrial district with electric light and power. It is basic. It will continue to expand with the development of your community. The character of the company's operations—a public utitlity serving all the people all the time—removes it from the disturbing hazards of ordinary business.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 5.—An aged apple tree standing on the edge of the Rochester city dumping grounds in Winton road has fallen a victim to the weatherman's little joke taken the recent temperature of 97 degrees seriously and burst into bloom. One-half of its branches are heavy with ripening fruit the other half showered with pink blossoms.

Because a man is idle is no sign he is a loafer. He may have a political job you know.

Her Worst Worry Ended for a Dime!

A Body Sweetness that Even Perspiration Can't Spoil

All the trick laxatives in the world can't tempt people who understand the properties of cascara.

A hundred different drugs will purge the bowels, but a little natural cascara purifies the system clear through. Cleanses even the pores of your skin. Renders perspiration as inoffensive as so much dew!

Your grandparents took "salts," and slowly washed away the mucous membrane with the waste! Mineral oils are better, but they leave the coating that your blood must then carry off through the pores. But when you cascarize the system, you get rid of all the poisons by normal muscular action of the bowels.

Don't get in the habit of taking medicine for constipation—or even for autointoxication. If you have the habit, stop it. A candy cascaret is a delightful form in which to take cascara; children love them and the taste tempts most grown-ups to take "more." And what a comfort to know you are in that clean, wholesome condition that does away with any need of deodorants, even in warmest weather! Try a cascaret tonight! All druggists, 10c & 25c.

"WHAT A JOY it was to find such an aid to utter cleanliness! My system is so purified, perspiration doesn't stain my garments and I just forget self now, after I've taken one or two—

New Gas Company Is Organized In Mercer County

Believe They Are On Verge Of Striking Big Gas Pool

MERCER Oct. 5.—Organization of the Hells Hollow Gas company is reported today as having taken place over the week end.

The company is so called from the location of Hells Hollow, a grotto on the Mercer-Sharon road. The company is made up of Mercer men who have already drilled two wells in East Lackawannock township where they are reported to have 2,500 acres of land under lease.

Small wells of 50,000 cubic feet a day were struck on the Minner and Alderson farms. It is the belief of the company members who are experienced men that they are on the verge of striking a big pool of gas.

It is the belief that the two wells drilled are on the edge of a very productive territory.

Another well will be drilled just as soon as possible it is said today. Its location has not been agreed upon as yet. In the interim W. H. Hovis who is the contracting driller, will drill two wells for the Mill Run Oil and Gas company located in Springfield township.

Following this contract of drilling Hovis will resume work on the leases of the Hells Hollow company.

Glass Workers Strike About Over Outlook

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5.—Possibility of the ending of the glass workers' strike was seen today following announcement that representatives of the Window Glass Cutters and Flatteners Protective Association of America and the American Window Glass Company were scheduled to hold a conference this morning.

Approximately 30,000 glass workers were reported to have gone out of their jobs September 30, at the expiration of the year's contract between the glass workers and the manufacturers.

The glass workers have asked for the restoration of the scale put into effect a year ago, on which they accepted a 10 per cent reduction during the month of January.

Plans were also discussed for a send-off party to Geoffry and Ronald Sowash who will leave here in a few weeks for Egypt.

Famous Ship Becomes Shark Skin Tannery

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The British steamer Istar is in a London dock with 30 tons of sharks aboard, but so determined are her owners to keep the vessel's business secret that a guard has been placed aboard to keep off intruders.

The Istar was built by a champagne magnate 26 years ago and named after the Babylonian goddess Istar. Her first owner spent 60,000 pounds a year to keep her up to form and succeeded so well that recently a Board of Trade surveyor put her age at from three to four years.

During the war the Istar was chartered by the American navy. Six-inch guns were mounted on her and she was used to convoy submarines. She was recently fitted up at Antwerp for the convertion of sharks into leather and other by-products.

Judge Believes Publicity Cuts Down Divorces

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Publicity for divorce cases should be permitted because it is a proved deterrent to divorce, in the opinion of Judge Joseph Cabath, of the Chicago supreme court, just returned from Europe.

The divorce rate in England and Switzerland has been doubled since publication of proceedings has been forbidden, Judge Sabath declared. He approved, however, of the stricter marriage laws he found in Europe and of the practice of appearance before a reconciliation judge before institution of formal divorce action.

Judge Sabath, who has tried 25,000 divorce cases, said judges in Paris had welcomed his suggestion that all litigation in each case should be handled by the same judge, instead of distributing the various motions and orders.

Railroad Has 233 Curves In 12 Miles

Uintah Line Is Declared The Most Difficult Road In The Nation To Operate

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 5.—Officially cited by the Interstate Commerce commission as the most difficult railroad to operate, the Uintah line handles principally gilsonite. It covers the seventy miles between Mack, Col., and Watson, Utah.

In the thirty-five miles between Mack and Baxter Pass, atop the Bookcliff mountains, the railway climbs from 4,541 feet above sea level to an elevation of 8,437 feet.

Sharp curves on the route resulted in a specially constructed rod locomotive. This type is expected eventually to replace geared locomotives, which have heretofore struggled with the steep grades.

Crossing the beautiful, precipitous Bookcliff mountains, this short line railroad overcomes some of the steepest grades and most acute curves in railroad experience. From Atchee to Wendella, a distance of twelve miles, there are no fewer than 233 bends, some attaining, it is declared, the unprecedented curvature of sixty-six degrees.

Last year the railway is said to have hauled 35,000 tons of gilsonite, a mineral from the vast deposit at the extreme eastern edge of Utah, said to be the only considerable deposit in America.

Spades Were Trumps All The Way Around

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—A bridge game was in progress at the Thomas Jallap home in Wedgewood Terrace and the Egbert Johnsons were there, Mrs. Johnson being Mr. Jallap's partner.

Eventually a new deck of cards was needed, so Mr. Jallap telephoned downstairs to a novelty store and ordered a new deck sent up. Mr. Johnson shuffled the new cards and dealt. Two spades were bid, Mr. Jallap bid three spades.

"Four spades," broke in Mrs. Jallap.

"Five spades," snapped Mrs. Johnson.

"Six spades," declared the dealer.

Mr. Jallap reached for a heavy ash tray. A moment later the neighbors were calling the police.

A boy from the novelty store burst in on the game.

"The boss says you got the wrong deck of cards," he said. "It is a magic trick deck and it's all spades, and the boss says it costs a dollar extra, or else you can send it back."

The police gathered up the cards and told the boy to take them back.

Colored Smocks For School Marms

HAZEL PARK, Mich., Oct. 5.—Women teachers in Hazel Park schools must wear smocks of one color wich reach at least ten inches from the ground.

The order was made by the board of education, a male member of which believed the class room was no place for short skirts.

Teachers said today they did not mind the compulsory covering of their lower limbs but they were greatly exercised as to what color smocks the board would suggest. Either blondes or the brunettes were liable to get a touch break they indicated.

Five-Child Families Obsolete In Kansas

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 5.—Large families are so scarce in Kansas that the Kansas Free Fair has decided to dispense with the award of a trophy to parents having five children or more which has been given for several years.

In announcing the winners of prizes in the "fitter families" contest today fair authorities explained that awards will go only to the two groups for smaller families—one group consiting of parents and one child and another of parents and two to four children.

Parachute Jumper Lands On Reptile

RIO DE JANIERO, Oct. 5. — The rubber clothing of the famous Brazilian flier, Lieut. Chevalier, saved him from probably death from the fangs of a huge poisonous snake today at the end of a 6,000-foot drop in a parachute.

Jumping from his plane in an effort to break the parachute jumping record, Lieut, Chevalier made a safe landing, but alighted on a big snake, which immediately encircled his legs and arm. The aviator's rubber suit saved him from the bites of the reptile until help arrived.

Public Welfare Decides Curfew

JAMESTOWN, Oct. 6.—City council has referred the matter of blowing the curfew whistle to the board of public welfare which will determine whether or not it annoys hospital patients on the south side of the city.

There is divided opinion on the council in the matter of discontinuing the curfew whistle at 8:45 o'clock each night. The public welfare board commissioners are expected to take action one way or the other at their meeting Thursday afternon.

David's A Horse, He Doesn't Vote

WALLINGFORD, Conn., Oct. 5.—In the half dozen years that the name of David A. Mitchell, 26 Oak street, has been on the voting list of this town, David never has cast a ballot so when Daniel A. Mitchell of the same address came to the polls to cast his vote in the borough elections the moderator asked why David had never voted. "David can't vote" answered Daniel, "David's my horse."

World-Wide Increase In Cost Of Footwear Seen By British Shoe Men

(International News Service)

NORTHAMPTON Oct. 5. — A world-wide increase in the cost of footwear seems inevitable. The Federation of Boot and Shoe Manufacturers of Great Britain have decided on a general revision of costings, in an upward direction.

A. H. Hollister, President of the Northamptonshire Boot and Shoe Manufacturers' Association, states that the increase will be from 25 to 36 cents per pair. The shortage of hides, he says, has increased the price of leather.

The shortage of hides is due to the demand for leather for automobiles and so many purposes other than footwear. Another factor in the decline in the consumption of meat, especially in the United States, caused by the growing demand for cereals. This means that fewer cattle are being raised.

One interesting feature of the Northampton manufacturers report is that there is a growing demand for British footwear in the United States and the British export trade is prospering accordingly.

New Wilmington High Preparing For Sandy Lake

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 5.—With most of the injured men reporting back at practice today, Coach Wiggins is now training his grid squad for the October 15 clash with the Sandy Lake high school eleven. Herriott, the big fullback, wrenched his ankle in the Sharon game but he is now able to walk on it and will be able to take his place in the lineup before the next game.

Coach Wiggins also expects to have Captain Davis back in the lineup for the Sandy Lake tilt. Davis who plays end has been out of the first two games because of ineligibility.

Second Ton Litter Of Pigs Reported

Second litter of pigs in Lawrence county to qualify in the Ton Litter project was that of F. R. Martin of Bessemer.

Announcement was made this morning that the litter, consisting of nine pure bread Poland China pigs was officially weighed yesterday and balanced the scales at 2500 pounds. These pigs were 180 days of age.

Mr. Martin's litter consisted of 13 pigs, farrowed April 7. Three of them died before entry was made in the project. Another of the pigs died April 13, leaving nine to be officially weighed.

From the time the pigs began eating grain they were fed principally on ground wheat and barley, supplemented with skimmed milk. This gave Mr. Martin economic feed, because all of the feed was grown on the home farm.

To qualify in the project the litter must weigh 2,000 pounds or more at 180 days of age.

The purpose of this project, as conducted through the Agricultural Extension association cooperating with the Pennsylvania State college, is to teach economic production of pork.

The first litter in this county to qualify was that of John E. Houk of Edenburg, which weighed 290 pounds.

There are three additional litters in the county which will be weighed up later in the fall. These belong to Lawrence Heacock, New Wilmington; Alvin McFarland, New Castle and A. F. Arnold, Enon Valley.

INCREDIBLE!

Harry was showing his country cousin 'round London. It was the girl's first visit to the city, and she was very interested in all she saw.

They happened to pass a fruit shop, and some tomatoes in the window attracted the girl's attention.

Harry explained that they were tomatoes.

"Oh, rubbish!" said his cousin. "I'm not so green as all that. Tomatoes grow in tins, the same as condensed milk!"—From Answers, London.

Mrs. Boyd Hurt In Auto Accident

Mrs. Temple Boyd of Pulaski road is slowly recovering from bad cuts and bruises sustained in an automobile accident which occurred Monday afternoon about 4 o'clock in Girard, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd were returning from Cleveland, where they had spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walters. At Girard in turning out of the wet car tracks, the car skidded into a telephone pole. Mrs. Boyd was thrown into the windshield, sustaining a severe cut around the mouth and nose which required seven stitches, also a deep cut on the arm which required eight stitches to close and one above the eye.

She was rushed in an ambulance to St. Elizabeth's hospital, Youngstown, but was able a few hours later to be taken to the home of Mr. Boyd's sister, Mrs. C. R. Thompson of Youngstown.

Mr. Boyd escaped with a few bruises. Mrs. Boyd was brought to her home here and is getting along as well as can be expected.

Reducing Classes Start Next Week

Just one week until the morning reducing class starts at the Y. W. C. A. Are you, who are overweight, registered?

Look at your reflection in the mirror. Are you pleased with it? Is your figure what it should be? Are you proud of it? What about that extra layer of flesh around the shoulders? Around the hips? Around the abdomen?

Loss of that surplus weight will make you better looking, happier, more efficient, to say nothing about the modern styles. You will look much better in your clothes and you can buy clothes with more chic and less expense if you discard unnecessary weight.

The above arguments are for reducing because of appearance. Watch tomorrows paper to read the arguments of health for reducing.

Only one more week and the enrollment is limited. Call us now 748.

AT THE AFTERNOON TEA

The man was straight and tall and true,
The woman fair to see,
They met as people often do,
At what is termed a "tea."

Now teas are dreadful bores at best,
As countless people say,
They're functions most of us detest,
But dare not put away.

'Tis truth to tell the maiden stood
Unwillingly in line,
And he was there because he could
Not gracefully decline.

And muttering at the tedious fate
Which forced him out to tea,
The handsome man so tall and straight,
Met her so fair to see.

She brought to him a cup of tea,
Likewise a bit of cake,
And hurried back to learn if he
Another cup would take.

"I saw, sir," unto him she said,
"Perhaps more tea you wished."
The handsome fellow hung his head,
Her beauty had him dished.

"It must be nice," said he, "to reign
And pour at such a tea."
"The sharp talk here," she smiled again.
"Is deadly dull to me.

"I'm bored to death by such affairs,
They all seem so absurd,
In spite of people's breezy airs,
Only the tea is stirred."

"Then will you be my darling bride,
And name the day," said he.
"Of course I will," the maid replied,
"You suit me to a T."

Navy Band Leader Will Direct High School Band

Captain William Santelmann, former director of the U. S. Marine band but now retired, and John Philip Sousa, famous conductor who is still going strong at the age of 73, these two distinguished conductors and many others not so well known, have on various occasions conducted our orchestra or band of the senior high school and on each occasion the boys and girls who have played have "shown off" exceedingly well.

Friday afternoon at the student matinee at 2:30, Lieut. Charles E. Benter, U. S. N., director of the United States Navy band, will conduct the senior high school band in one of Sousa's earliest but greatest marches, the "Washington Post". Sousa brought this march out when he was a mere boy and publishers got it from him for a mere sum of $35. However, it proved to be one of the best marches he ever wrote and along with a few of his other great marches made for him an international reputation with the result that such a march as his "Liberty Bell", brought out much later and not nearly so well known, netted him $35,000.

It is early in the year for the high school musicians and there is much new material in the band but the boys are practicing hard and undoubtedly Mr. Benter will feel pleasantly surprised at the response which they promise to give his baton.

Mr. Benter, now in his thirties, has been in the navy since 17. It was the wonderful band he developed on the U. S. S. Connecticut that brought world-wide attention and caused him to get the call from congress to come to Washington after the World war and organize and develop the official musical organization of the navy, which is now known as the United States Navy band. So great has been his success that his band is now the "president's official band" and according to Congressman J. Howard Swick is the favorite in the capitol. Its growing popularity was recognized when President Harding took it with him on that last fateful trip thru the west and to Alaska.

The students of the high school band who will have the honor of playing for Lieut. Benter are:

James McLendon, Ray Muder, Arthur Allen, Loyal Eckert, Vincent Thornburg, Francis Sage, Dan Cassella, Jack Treser, Charles Tribby, Robert Griffiths, Russel Johnston, Glenn Cunningham, Joe Lockley, George Rich, William Springer, Robert Gibson, Theodore Jackson, Fred Jenkins, Ralph Lanigan, Walter McConnell, Joe McGaffic, Franklin Russler, Harold Sankey, Robert Weingartner, James Armstrong, Fred Blaha, Vaughn Fitshugh, Howard Jenkins, William Mansfield, Donald Potter, Clyde Burkholder, Harold Burry, Eugene Wolfe, Arthur Bartlett, James Beadel, Sam Barom, Harold Cotton, David Forrest, Virgil Kelly, Harry Maddocks, Archie McClintock, Brice McGeehan, Ralph McConnell, Stewart Mardis, Clyde Perrine, Willard Porter, James Remley, Russel Stiritz, Thaddeus Lutz, Philip Winter, Joe Aiken, Edgar Beal, Sam Davies, Kenneth Myers, Harry Stiritz.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS
BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT.

An appetizing little luncheon or supper menu is planned for the meatless day and included in the recipe is an economy hint. A little grated cheese in the hot biscuits will add protein to the meal.

Corn and Tomatoes
German Fried Potatoes Hot Biscuits
Baked Apples Tea.

Today's Recipes.

Corn and Tomatoes—Cut grains off cobs of leftover corn. Fresh tomatoes. Cut tomatoes in small pieces, add corn, salt, pepper, small piece of butter and about one teaspoon sugar (to taste.) Stew together over small flame in covered pot. Add no water. If a little thin add cracker or bread crumbs. Fresh tomatoes that have become a little spotted and are not firm enough for salad can be purchased very reasonably and are fine for cooking.

Glace—(Glazed) A term sometimes applied to an ice garnished with whipped cream, also to an ice served between "kisses" or meringues.

Stuffed Peppers—Wash peppers, cut in halves, removing seeds and white fibre. Parboil in boiling water for ten minutes. Stuff with the following mixture.

Flaked fish mixed in a little rather thick cream sause and stale bread crumbs, enough to make the mixture suitable for filling peppers. Cover with grated cheese add a little water and bake in fairly hot over for 20 minutes.

Use chopped meat in place of fish, in which case any leftover gravy may be used in place of the white sauce. Or rice and tomatoes may be seasoned with and mixed with onion and the peppers stuffed with the mixture.

Graham Muffins—One cup bread flour, one cup graham flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons sugar, one-third cup evaporated milk diluted with two-thirds cup water, one egg two tablespoons melted fat.

Mix and sift ingredients. Beat egg thoroughly and add to it the diluted milk and melted fat. Combine wet and dry ingredients as quickly as possible. As soon as every trace of the flour has disappeared pour into oiled muffin tins. Bake in an oven heated to 425 degrees F. for 20 to 25 minutes. This makes 12 medium sized muffins.

Bran Muffins—Two tablespoons shortening, one-fourth cup of sugar, one egg, one cup sour milk, one cup bran, one cup flour, one-half teaspon soda, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one teaspoon baking powder.

Cream shortening and sugar, add egg. Mix and sift flour, soda, baking powder and salt. To the creamed mixture, add bran, then milk, alternately with sifted dry ingredients.

Pour into buttered muffin pans and bake in moderate oven 20 minutes. The result is 12 large muffins. If sweet milk is used omit soda and use three teaspoons of baking powder. Raisins or dates may be added to muffins if you wish.

SUGGESTIONS.
For the Small Pie.

Pack the little pie for the lunch box in a paper ice cream dish. It may be put into one and another used to cover it. One housewife declares that she bakes the little pies in these plates using the kind with plain edges.

City To Use Decorative Plan To Greet Delegates To Convention

GREETING CARDS ALSO INVITED

That merchants of New Castle display curb flags and put cards of welcome that they may have in their windows to greet the delegates to the 65th annual Pennsylvania State Sabbath School convention to be held in the Scottish Rite Cathedral October 12 to 14 inclusive, is the wish of C. E. McGrath who is chairman of the decorations committee for the convention.

It is the aim of the decorations committee to have New Castle present as hospitable an appearance as possible to the delegates who will come from every county in the state.

Wednesday will be Butler county day, announces Robert M. Strickler, president of the Lawrence County Sabbath School association and word has been received at this office that a large delegation from Butler will be present on that day. Thursday will be Mercer county day according to information received from Mary Hildebrandt, Mercer county secretary and again a large number of delegates will attend.

Some of the delegates might be interested to know what will be contained in the convention envelope which will be handed to every delegate as soon as he registers.

The contents will be as follows: One regular hand book and program, a convention hymn book an educational leaflet, a note book, an officialbadge which will give admittance to all sessions of the convention, a silk bound book donated by Rodman Wanamaker entitled "The Prayers of John Wanamaker" a subscription envelope, a subscription blank which when filled out will entitle the bearer to one year's subscription to the Pennsylvania Herald, and a board of trade folder which will show the location of the convention buildings as well as other points of interest about the town.

Male Styles May Eclipse Female's

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 5.—That man is becoming style-conscious and that he may become a creature as gorgeous as a peacock was the statement made at the State Association of Retail Shoe Dealers' 14th annual convention by Jesse Adler, New York director of the National Shoe Dealers association.

"Men are paying more attention to dress now than ever before" said Adler, "and it is very probable that in the near future the genus homo will turn out to be more gloriously arrayed than the female."

Here's The Way

To Polish Up Dull Teeth

That World's Dental Authorities Advise

Works Wonders by Clearing Dingy Film Off—10-Day Tube Free

WIDESPREAD dental discoveries in the care of teeth and gums have been made. "Off-color" teeth have been proved quickly restorable to clear and gleaming whiteness. Tender gums are firmed; given healthy coral color.

Tooth and gum troubles were found to come largely from a film coat that forms on teeth, absorbs food discolorations and breeds bacteria.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you'll feel a slippery coating. That is film. Old-type dentifrices won't successfully clear it off. That's why your teeth have remained "off color" regardless of what you did.

Now, in a new-type dentifrice called Pepsodent, those conditions have been met—you can clear that film off. Teeth whiten amazingly. One's whole appearance thus is often quickly changed.

To prove those results, accept 10-day tube free. Or get full-size tube for few cents at your druggist. Do this in fairness to yourself.

You Need Never Change Your Oil if You Own a Buick

Last year Buick said: "Change your oil only four times a year." Buick tests at the great Proving Ground of General Motors at that time had shown that oil changes would never be necessary, with the Oil Filter to remove impurities, and with the Crankcase Ventilator, Thermostatic Circulation Control and Automatic Heat Control to prevent oil dilution.

Now, more than a year has passed, and Buick owners in every section of the world—under every climatic condition—have also proved that you never need change your oil if you own a Buick—replenishment and inspection of the Buick Oil Filter only are required.

Johnson, of the U. S. district court, as he sat on the bench. Arising from a chair usually occupied by the bailiff, she cried out, "I'll show you that I can get my rights," and began to fire. The judge's condition is not serious. She shot him because he had refused to reopen her suit to secure $25,000 damages.

Grandmother, Running for Mayor, Makes Nutmeg State Take Notice

Mrs. Helena Weed of Norwalk, Conn., is campaigning for mayor against Anson F. Keeler (right). Mrs. Weed is a grandmother, but already has injected plenty of pep into the political situation, which is being watched with acute interest

(International Illustrated News)

By SHIRLEY KIRKE
International Illustrated News Staff Correspondent

NORWALK, Conn. (I-I-N).—This staid old typically New England town is abuzz with excitement.

Mrs. Helena Weed is out to capture the mayoralty!

If she's successful—and she has at the very least an even chance—the women voters of Connecticut are going to cut a lot of political ice from now on.

Has Lots of Pep

Mrs. Weed is a grandmother—but she's got plenty of pep. She sailed into the political arena and won the Democrats over to her cause. They selected her as their standard-bearer on a non-partisan ticket.

The Republicans are countering with Anson B. Keeler, one of the most popular men in town.

Keeler is a bachelor—and a good-looking one, too—and operates a laundry.

He's sure to make a fight of it.

Another interesting angle of this affair is the fact that Mrs. Weed votes the Republican ticket in national politics.

She won her A. B. and A. M. degrees from Vassar. She's always been a close student of political theory, and during the last few years has educated herself in the practical side of politics, too.

She's the First

Mrs. Weed bears the distinction of being the first woman to be nominated for mayor in any city in New England. Also, one of the few to be so honored throughout the country.

If she should win the election the bars erected against the frail sex in New England will be shattered.

There's a highly intellectual population of women voters throughout this section, and they're sure to make their power felt from now on. That's why women's political clubs all over the United States are watching this contest very closely.

Her views on politics are interesting:

"What each community needs is the undivided attention and time of a disinterested citizen," she declares.

"This work is the same as providing for the necessities and future welfare of the well-ordered home.

"Therefore, the woman who is a conscientious housekeeper is well trained to become the directing head of any community of homes that is called a city."

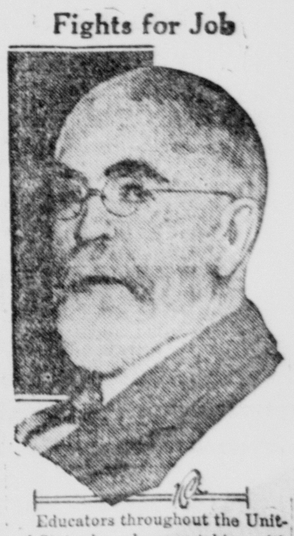

So it's grandmother vs. bachelor. Who will win?

PROMPT MEALS SPELL HAPPINESS

When they recently celebrated their anniversary in Los Angeles they announced they credited their years of happiness to Mrs. Waybright's prodigious feat.

Fights for Job

Educators throughout the United States have been watching with interest the efforts of the Chicago board of education to oust its superintendent, William McAndrew, nationally known educator, on charges of insubordination and pro-British sympathies. This photo was taken as McAndrew went on trial.

TWO SETS OF "GRIDDING" BROTHERS

Johnny Kraft Writes Of Visit To Ellis Island

(By JOHN KRAFT)
(Special To The News)

NEW YORK CITY, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Ellis Island, situated in New York Harbor, just a short distance from where the Statue of Liberty peers out over the waters, is no longer overcrowded with immigrants of every nationality as of years ago, but today holds only a few of the foreign element who have been either rejected due to low funds or due to poor physical condition.

The trip to the island was a most interesting one. Before boarding the ferry to be conveyed across the Hudson River to Ellis Island, a visitor's pass from the Commissioners Office was necessary. This secured, everything was in readiness for the short trip across the waters.

Admitted into the first entrance one was confronted by a curious crowd of folks—in fact—six or a dozen nationalities were represented in the group that was waiting, either to board the next ferry, or to await a relative or friend who had been dismissed from the Island.

As the ferry docked, many of the immigrants who were aboard, made haste to the street. Children were seen with identification tags—men carried a big broad smile as they had finally reached the land of the free—women in their curious foreign attire tagged along dragging their heavy luggage and soon the newly admitted immigrants to our country scattered to different parts of the nation.

The group in waiting to make the next trip over to the Island was now permitted to board the ferry. A gruff "low bridge" was heard as the people clambored aboard, bending considerably to avoid bumping their head on a beam. Soon the ferry backed water, pointed its bow to the Island and started across the Hudson River. The trip consumed about 15 minutes and soon the ferry docked and the passengers discharged.

Ellis Island contains many fine buildings which house the immigrants and officers in charge. A trip was made to an upper floor from where one can look over a large balcony to the immigrants who are stationed below, who are anxiously awaiting for a friend of relative to come and release them from their temporary confinement.

The visitor of today, however, meets with a big surprise as the spacious room is no longer over-crowded with a mass of bemuddled humanity, but contains only a small number of unfortunate men, women and children who are refused admittance into our country because of lack of necessary funds or poor health. If friends or relatives make their appearance on the scene, the immigrants are permitted to enter the United States, having been promised proper care here.

Walking up the corridor a big burly officer stopped the writer and asked, "Where yo goin' son?" Just looking around was the reply. "Better look out or you'll get mixed up in the crowd" was the joking retort of the man in charge as he walked away.

Immigrants in confinement are shown every courtesy and given the best of attention. Notices are posted about, advising that the best of treatment be accorded these people. Only a handful were seen sitting about, and they appeared in the best of spirits.

About fifteen men, women and children were granted permission to leave on the ferry upon which the writer returned. A young woman—picked as a Scandinavian—had the American spirit alright as her lips were very amateurishly painted with lip-stick. It could be readily seen that she was a novice at the game. But like all other things—she'll learn.

Another gruff "low bridge" as the ferry docked and again another group of immigrants had been admitted into the United States—to reside in that great land of which they probably heard so much about.

Some Local Comment Ideas and Suggestions As Given To News Man

By ALFRED SWIFT

MINNIE WALDMAN,
Bookkeeper.

It is funny the way the average person reads the newspaper. Most of them have their favorite departments and always look for them first.

On picking up a paper I always read the weather first, then the death record, the marriage license record, the society news, the comic strips, sports, and then the murders and scandals, I suppose, in the order named.

JAMES DAVIS,
South Side Merchant.

In the coming world's series everyone is banking on the Babe to make some phenomenal plays. Well all that I have to say is don't expect too much.

You know, although Babe has made 60 home runs this season, that only averages about one every three games played or 1 every 15 or 20 times at the bat. But of course if he does manage to connect with one right at the critical moment, well, there goes the ball game and perhaps the pennant.

O. M. HARTZELL,
R. D. 4, Farmer.

Yes, I am sure that summer has finally gone and we have with us now winter. This morning as I came to town I noticed quite a few corn fields that seemed frosted. In fast, I have heard that some of the corn throughout the county has been frozen.

Because of this the farmers should save all seed corn that they can get, for I am sure that it will be at a premium next spring when we do our planting.

HENRY GINSBERG,
Long Avenue.

To my mind, although I am studying for it, pharmacy's a tough proposition. To get to be a registered pharmacist one has to spend three years in training, and at that if one could start right out in that department it would not be so bad. But like the printer's devil one must do a lot of things before he is even allowed behind the prescription counter. Just now I am jerking sodas and rather liking it because I have to. But, in time I suppose that I shall get there, although sometimes I doubt it.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

DICK COOK ASKS ACTION

Editor The News:

I would like just enough of your time and of the space in The News to express myself once more concerning the crying needs of our community. This time, it is the swimming pool maintained in front of the Y. M. C. A., on the public square. It's a disgrace to a city of the size and importance of New Castle. If the city fathers want to maintain it, they should provide a bridge or boats to get over or through it and rubber coats like they do at Niagara Falls to protect your clothing from the spray. Everytime it rains like it did last Monday, the lake is there and when the automobiles pass by or you attempt to get through it to a car, you get all smeared up. It's not very nice for the ladies let alone the men. Council might take time enough to go down and try it on a rainy day. They would enjoy it, I am sure.

Yours for New Castle,
J. DICK COOK,
West Sheridan Cow Patch.

NO WOMAN CAN KEEP HOUSE EFFICIENTLY

Without Good Health

MRS. FRANK DINDORE
BOX 239, LANCASTER, OHIO

I was on a visit to my sister in Utica, Michigan, and she had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Her husband got me a bottle and I took it and felt so much better that I got a second one. Now, whenever I feel run-down I take the Vegetable Compound and soon feel all right again. I have had three little girls in the last six years and do all my housework, sewing, washing, and ironing. My time is pretty well taken up, but I will answer any letters I receive."—MRS. FRANK DINDORE, Box 239, Lancaster, Ohio.

Four Walls Can Make a House, but it takes a Woman to Make a Home

To be a successful homemaker, a woman must guard her health. When mother is not well, the home is upset. Women everywhere are learning through their own personal experiences, as these women did, the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

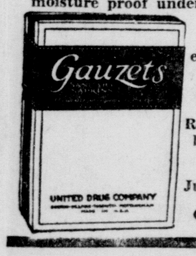

Lancaster, Ohio.—"For ten years after my marriage, I had poor health. Sturgis, Michigan.—"I am very thankful for what your medicine has done for me and have recommended it to others. I took it to give me strength before my baby was born. I would have to stop work and lie down sometimes all the afternoon. I felt as if I did not care whether anything was done or not. I got tired out so easily. One day I found a little book on my porch and that night I showed it to my husband and he went down town and got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The medicine has helped me so much that I was soon able to do my work, and when my baby was born, my nurse, Mrs. Forbes, said it was the easiest birth she had ever attended. I will be more than pleased if I am helping someone else by giving my testimonial."—MRS. EDWARD PERSING, 614 Sturgis Ave., Sturgis, Michigan.

It is much better than starvation. That modern, scientific method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. Now the results in slender figures, new beauty and vitality, are seen everywhere.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the scientific reasons for results. So you know the effects are beneficial, and why they all occur. Learn what so many have learned in 20 years about it. Do it now. Ask your druggist for a $1 box of Marmola and learn what it means to you.

School Board Plans For Athletic Improvements

Large Score Board To Be Erected On Athletic Field In Near Future

Collect $202,000 In School Taxes Already This Year, Is Stated

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 5.—At the regularly monthly meeting of the board of education which took place last evening in the Lincoln building, the conversation ran along athletic lines for the most part.

Supt. Ray Smith, who conducted a meeting of the athletic committee two weeks ago in the absence of H. W. Smith, reported the following: That Paul Guy had asked permission to erect a large scoreboard 10 by 12 feet on the athletic field, with corresponding numerals for the score during the football season. Permission was granted by the board. The athletic committee also agreed to have Frank Addington, principal of the high school, act as manager of athletics, with Mr. Patterson as assistant. Sand was put on the field and the bleachers repaired. It was also decided that members of the faculty would handle the tickets at the gates, keeping check on same. Chief of Police Teater has promised adequate police service during the games. The committee also decided on a $15 charge for officials of the W. P. I. A. L. who handle the games. The advisability of erecting an eight-ounce canvas on the side of the field facing West Short street was also discussed for the purpose of preventing people from standing and parking outside the fence, viewing the game free of charge. A dryer and medicine cupboard will be purchased for the football locker room.

At a recent meeting of the teachers, discussion regarding janitors took place, and at last night's meeting the policy of making the various principals in the schools responsible for the activities of the janitors.

The education committee's report was given as follows: The board received the resignation of Miss Balmer, and recommends the appointment of Miss Myrtle Anderson at $1,300 per year and Miss Mary Louise Davis at $900 in the public schools. The committee also reported that many petitions had come in for the institution of night classes.

Members of the building committee reported that $202,000 had been collected in taxes for 1927. Also $1,048 has been spent for cement walks, and that the grading about the new Lincoln school is practically finished.

It was further decided that all cases on the football squad requiring medical attention should be referred to the school physician, Dr. W. G. Evans.

Yankees Are Slight Favorites To Win

Managers About Decided That Hoyt And Kremer Will Go To Mound

Bleacher Line Forms Early; Gates Open At 10 O'clock This Morning

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 5.—With the annual world series classic opening here today, Pittsburgh was a-tingle with excitement, its natives keyed up to a nervous tension approaching frenzy, fans here from all parts of the country and the contending ball clubs the Pittsburgh Pirates and the New York Yankees, restlessly awaiting the hour when they will don their spangles and go forth to battle.

Manager Miller Huggins of the Yankees announced this morning that he probably would pitch Waite Hoyt, a world series veteran, in the opening game, and Manager Donie Bush of the Pirates indicated he would send Ray Kremer to the firing line. Both are right handers.

Line Forms Early.

Fans stormed Forbes Field in droves long before the gates were scheduled to be opened at 10 o'clock this morning. The weather was cool, with a football tang in the air, and topcoats were comfortable. The weather forecaster, however, predicted that it would warm up somewhat by game time, 1:30 this afternoon.

At dawn 2,000 dyed in the wool bleacher fans, who had kept an all-night vigil at the ball park, were strung out in long lines at the ticket gates. By 7 o'clock this morning fully 5,000 were fighting to hold their places against newcomers. All reserved seats had been sold and it is a certainty that a capacity crowd of 42,000 will witness the opening game.

The first man in line for a bleacher seat, and determedly fighting to hold it, was Ralph Arkle, of Pittsburgh, who had been sitting astride a wooden box since 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning. Second in line was Lester McMichael, a youth of Connersville, Ind., who made a 350-mile trip by automobile to see the series. Next was William Peters, an ex-army veteran of Baltimore, who took precautions against inclement weather by bringing a pup tent. Following him was George Sliker, who came all the way from Worcester, Mass., to see Babe Ruth crash a homer.

Ruth, in fact, is the star attraction as far as the fans are concerned. Only once before has the great home run slugger been on the scene of today's conflict, and that was in an exhibition game. The natives are going to the game much in the manner of a crowd to a circus and in the back of their heads reclines the fear that the elephant, Mr. Ruth is going to break loose and spoil the show.

Betting Odds Change.

Betting odds changed at the eleventh hour, coming down close to even money because of the injury sustained by Herb Pennock, star southpaw of the Yanks, in batting practice yesterday. The New York club had previously been installed 7 to 5 favorites to win the series. Pennock who has never been beaten in a world series game, was struck on the left leg just above the knee by a batted ball, and a blood vessel was ruptured.

Physicians said the effect of the blow could not be fully determined until this afternoon. They said Pennock might possibly be able to pitch Friday when the team opens in New York. The accident caused a near-panic among the Yankees as Manager Huggins had been counting on Pennock for at least one victory, possibly two. Ice treatment was applied on Pennock's leg to keep the flesh from swelling. Even if he is able to pitch it was feared that the injury would lessen his effectiveness.

Notables Present.

From all parts of the country fans are here to witness the first two games which will be played here today and tomorrow before the contending clubs entrain for New York to play three more, if that many are necessary. The governor of Pennsylvania, John S. Fisher, the mayors of New York city and Pittsburgh, Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball, a hundred or more baseball celebrities and even one-eyed Connelly, the famous gate crasher, are in town to see the spectacle. Among the major and minor league managers present are Joe McCarthy, of the Chicago Cubs, Wilbert Robinson, of the Brooklyn Nationals, Dave Bancroft of the Boston Braves, Dan Howley of the St. Louis Browns, George Moriarity of the Detroit Tigers and Ray Schalk, of the Chicago White Sox. Among the ball players here are Jacques Fournier, of the Braves, Max Carey, of the Dodgers, formerly captain of the Pirates, Bill McKechnie, one time Pittsburgh manager and Jack Onslow and Bill Engle of the Washington board of strategy.

Clowns On Hand

To further enliven the occasion this afternoon a 22-piece band will be on hand, and so will the famous baseball comedians, Nick Altrock and Al Schacht, who promise a trans-Atlantic flying act in addition to new quirks in golf and how to swim on the third base line. Mr. Altrock, his handsome face aglow with smiles, mingled with the baseball leite this morning attired in golf knickers, and seemed to be enjoying himself handing out ready-made repartee.

More than 400 baseball writers, from all parts of the country, have been assigned places in the press sections, or "dugout," directly back of the home plate. A network of wires, which carry every detail of play, has been cut into this section. Radio apparatus has been set up for the broadcasting of the series direct from the park.

The fans converging on Forbes field are evidencing the keenest interest in how the slugging of the famous Waner brothers, Paul and Lloyd, will compare with that of Babe and his home run twin, Lou Gehrig. It is as easy to start an argument on this question in Pittsburgh today as was on the "long count" question immediately after the Tunney-Dempsey fight.

Last minute arrests of ticket speculators were being made by the police this morning. Eighty-two sets of world series tickets were seized by detectives and six men were at liberty on forfeits after arrests on charges of violating a city ordinance. The authorities were planning to turn the seats over to Forbes field officials to be sold at regular prices. The scalpers had been charging from $50 to $75 for $16.50 strips of tickets.

Gridders Prepare For Donora Game Saturday

With reports from the Monongahela valley indicating that Donora High will battle the New Castle High team to a standstill here Saturday afternoon, Coach Bridenbaugh had the local squad on the field yesterday afternoon for a strenuous grind.

New Castle High has three victories under their belt, Grove City, Franklin and Mars, and they do not intend to have their winning streak smashed.

The local warriors have gone through three games this year and the injury list has been small. If they can proceed through the entire season without the necessity of having to outwit the "jinx" they will consider themselves fortunate.

The practice session yesterday afternoon at the Franklin Field, was a most trying one, the gridders were sent through signal drills, and wound up with a full hour of scrimmage. Another intensive period of trainfig awaits the boys this afternoon.

Real Test Saturday

That the red and black machine will get their first real test of the year in the Donora game, is well known, according to the boys who have seen Donora in action. Mortak the rip-tearing line plunger and open field runner is not with the Donora team this year, but they say that they have a backfield equally as good as last year, and that Mortak is not missed.

With Paul Reider ready for action again, Coach Bridenbaugh is having his troubles these days, for as a matter of fact Sillman is good enough to play on any team and therein lies a unique situation. It is not every high school team that has a pair of quarterbacks about on a par.

New Castle High is blessed this year with the finest looking backfield material in recent years. Captain "Tippy" Richards, Turk, Harper, Reider and Sillman constitute the first string backfield, with Fernati, Sage, Weaver, Smith and Hannon doing the bulk of the substituting work.

BOTH MANAGERS ARE CONFIDENT

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 5.—Both Manager Miller Huggins of the New York Yankees and Donie Bush of the Pittsburgh Pirates today expressed themselves as confident of victory in the world series.

Huggins said:

"We expect to win but we don't anticipate an easy task. We got a bad break when Herb Pennock was injured. The breaks often have a big part in deciding a short series but I think we'll surmount this one. Two great clubs are ready for battle and I firmly believe the Yanks will come out on top."

Bush Said:

"I think Pittsburgh will win, of course, but I won't say in how many games. We know we have our task cut cut for us. I am counting on my pitchers to stop the Yankee sluggers and I expect my club to show some fancy hitting, too. This should be a great series."

Local Boy Owns Autographed Ball From World's Series

Resplendent with the names of George Herman (Babe) Ruth, Walter Johnson, and Billy Evans autographed on it, a baseball that was used in the world's series of 1926 at St. Louis lays in the window of Richman's store on East Washington street.

The ball is the property of Master Jack Cowan, son of Archibald S. Cowan of Garfield avenue, and was presented to the boy by the mother of Billy Evans.

Cool And Clear Weather Outlook For Game Today

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5.—The first day of the World Series dawned clear and cool here this morning. There was a football tang in the air and early risers donned topcoats.

"Cloudy and slightly warmer," was the official weather prediction for this afternoon. There were no indications that rain would mar the opening clash between the Yankees and the Pirates.

Babe Ruth And Lou Gehrig Center Of Series Attraction

Gamble On Whether Ruth Will Outhit Gehrig In Homers During Series

Other Interesting Sidelights As "Side Show" Is About To Open

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5.—The home run duel between Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig will begin all over again this afternoon when the Yankees and Pirates square off at Forbes Field for the opening battle of the world series. Babe and Lou in the American league sweepstakes, 60 and 47, but many of Gehrig's admirers throughout the country are betting that the big first baseman will hit more homers than Ruth in the post-season classic.

During the off season the home run twins employ widely different methods to keep their muscles in the well-known pink. For several years Ruth exercised his sinews by practicing golf swings in his apartment. This method was discarded at the suggestion of Mrs. Ruth however, when the Babe ruined two imported Chinese vases parked on a shelf. Ever since that catastrophe occurred, George has kept the muscles of his brawny arms in trim by winding the phonograph at tea dances where no orchestra was available.

Gehrig has achieved the perfect home run physique by careful dieting. His home run swing is due to the power of pancakes. Eight years ago, when Lou was a stylish out in short pants, the writer frequently had the pleasure of dining at the Gehrig home in New York city. The favorite dish was pancakes, both German and buckwheat, and the boy Louis Heinrich became incordinately fond of this diet.

Grew Rapidly.

The boy Buster—he was then playing on a New York high school team—grew rapidly, but unfortunately in a horizontal direction. Later, however, the pancakes strengthened the muscles of his arms, storing up a huge reserve supply of calories.

The pancakes were more tasty (and considerably larger) than those served at a Coolidge White House breakfast. It is due to their influence, Ma Gehrig claims, that Lou was able to park forty-seven baseballs in the bleachers this year.

Mrs. Gehrig, incidentally, has just recovered from a serious illness, which it is thought may have had something to do with Gehrig's home run slump during September. Mrs. Gehrig is Lou's only sweetheart and he has been considerably worried about her condition.

Barney Dreyfuss says his office has returned more than 23,000 letters containing applications for seats. And it is safe to say that these missing cost Mr. Rreyfuss more pain and grief than ever was aroused by the most touching love letters in history. It is estimated that lack of seating facilities will cost Barney something like $500,000.

Four out of five persons who wanted tickets were disappointed. In this instance, four out of five got it in the neck instead of in the teeth.

The tickets are here if one wants to dig deep enough for them, however. A bellboy at one of the big hotels had thirty pastboards to sell last night and all he wants for them was enough to see him through his first year at college.

Among the various tradesmen in Pittsburgh, interest in the series is at zero heat. Except for a few pictures in store windows, and an occasional vendor selling gee-gaws, there is nothing to indicate that the home team has just won a pennant. The smallest college town in America on the eve of a football game, would make Pittsburgh's business section look like a graveyard in the matter of enthusiasm and team loyalty.

The local taxi drivers are eminently patriotic however. Stickers on their windshields proclaim their allegiance, and they chatter incessantly about the Pirates. A Pittsburgh fan can almost forgive them the outrageous charge of forty-five cents for a ride of two blocks.

Employers in 10,000 offices and 20,000 shops know full well that the average Pittsburgher cannot take his baseball or leave it alone. Employes who had decided to take French leave and see today's game were stymied by notices such as the following on countless bulletin boards:

"All requests for leave of absence on account of sudden illness, weddings, funeral or wakes must be handed in the day before the game."

Not every man would be foolhardy enough to wander around this city at night with a $100 bill in his coat lapel, yet that is just what sport scribes here are doing. Each writer wears on his lapel a badge granting him admission to the games, and the badge is a worth a century note at scalpers' prices. There are plenty of fans here desperate enough to swing a blackjack in order to get inside the ball park.

Relatives of the Pirates are pouring into town faster than a millionaire's kin assembling for the reading of the will. Charles and Louis Groh motored here from Rochester, N. Y., to see brother Heinie swing his bottle bat in his fifth world series.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Waner arrived from Ada, Oklahoma, to be on hand when their famous sons, Paul and Lloyd, do their stuff. They were accompanied by their daughter, Ruth.

Ruth has a baseball name but she does not play the game, for which the Yankees are duly thankful. If Ruth were a man and a member of the Pittsburgh team, the three Waners probably would clean up the series in four straight games.

Westminster Team Average Is Light

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 5.—Westminster's varsity football team, according to statistics recently gathered, is unusually light for a college eleven. Averages for the first 20 gridders on the Blue and White outfit gives the backfield an average of 166 pounds; for the line the average is only 172 with Gerry Sweet, lineman, possessing the most avordupois, 234 pounds.

Regarding longitude of frame, there are four six-footers in the first 20 men on Coach Beede's squad, of whom Bill Crowell, varsity end, is champion timber topper with an altitude of six feet and four inches. This last-mentioned rangy lad takes the lead in the size of footwear, using a model 12 shoe.

Youth prevails on the Westminster squad, the team average in age being 20½ years with Edward Matenin, another varsity end, topping the list with the advanced year of 26 to his credit.

There are no 10-second men on the United Presbyterian aggregation, but Johnnie Hall and Adrian Dible, varsity backs, lead the pack in fleetness. Hooward Kelly, Blue and White end from New Castle, is the only senior among the first 20 gridders. The junior class has a representation of seven men, while the sophomores have a representation of nine, and the freshmen on the team number three.

GRID CAPTAINS

Bob Reitsch is captain of the University of Illinois eleven this year.

Bob's brother Hank played center for the Illini in 1920.

Bob Reitsch followed in his older brother's footsteps in many ways, but mainly in going to Illinois and becoming a center.

It doesn't hurt the family pride any to rate Bob above Hank as a center, either, for the simple reason that Bob is rated as one of the best the Illini have ever had.

Illinois, spurred on by last year's showing hopes for a big year.

Last fall the team met Pennsylvania and four Big Ten teams, in addition to the early and minor opponents.

Beat Iowa, 13 to 6.
Lost to Michigan, 13 to 0.
Defeated Pennsylvania, 3 to 0.
Nosed out Chicago by one touchdown, 7 to 0.
And closed the season with a royal battle with Ohio State, losing 7 to 6.

TENNESSEE FRESHMAN GRIDDERS ALL ANSWER TO NAME OF "MAC"

The University of Tennessee has an "All-Mc" eleven. They are freshmen and all were born with the good old Irish (or Scotch) prefix on their surnames. If the coach yells "Mac," eleven gridders tune in with "Here!" The coach, Billy Harkness, is seriously considering tacking a "Mc" to his moniker. Even the managers of the freshman team give their rear names a start with a "Mc."

Five Thousand Fans In Line Waiting For World's Series Seats

All-Night Vigil By Several Of Ardent Fans Fails To Break Spirit

From All Over Country Fans Throng To Pittsburgh For Annual Classic

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5.—Two hours before the bleachers tickets for the first game of the Yankee-Pirate series went on sale at Forbes Field today the crowd at the gate became so great that three additional lines of ticket-purchasers were formed.

Some of the 5,000 fans in line at 8 o'clock took up their posts as early as noon yesterday and there were many in the queues who had been standing since 8 o'clock last night.

Many fans in choice positions near the box offices offered to forgo the privilege of witnessing the big series for a consideration of $5 to $25 for their places in line.

The multitudes applauded Carl Roemly, local semi-pro ball player, when he appeared on the scene at dawn carrying 20 gallons of coffee. This he dispensed without charge to the weary men and women in line.

Three youths who drove here from Rock Island, Ill., in a light touring car may have to walk home. While they were standing in line during the night a thief jacked up the rear of their machine and made away with two new tires. The Illinois boys were Joe Bugos, John Miller and Andy Miller. But they had the consolation of being near the ticket booth, and many less fortunate fans would have given the trio more than the price of two tires for their places.

At an early hour last night there were more than a dozen women fans in line before the bleacher gates, but one by one they dropped out or paid a boy to keep the night's vigil for them, until only one was left. She was Pauline Gnau of Pittsburgh. She had been in line since 8 o'clock last night.

"Women take their baseball seriously nowadays," said Miss Gnau. "There is no male fan who wants to see the Pirates beat the Yankees more than I."

"Fredie" Jackson, of 448 Washington avenue, Denver, Colo., hiked to Pittsburgh. He is preparing for a 26-mile hike championship and "ran over to Pittsburgh" as a part of his training campaign.

Another long distance fan, E. L. Dameron, came from Hickory, N. C., to take his place near the head of the column.

Many a weary fan sighed relief when a man with an eye for business drove up with 2,000 camp stools which he parted with for 50 cents each. They went like hot cakes.

Baker Denies Sale Of Philly Team To New York Producer

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5.—William Baker, president of the Phillies, today emphatically denied the reports that George M. Cohen, New York theatrical producer, was to purchase the Phillies. Reports are current, however, that the minority stockholders are anxious for a change in ownership of the local club of the National League.

James M. Smith Slightly Hurt

James M. Smith, president of the Shenango Pottery Company has been confined to his home for the past five days with a slight injury sustained at the plant. He is reported to be improving and should be entirely recovered by the end of the week.

Three Vigorous Vets — By Feg Murray

The last two months of the National League pennant struggle were featured by the presence of three veterans whose ages totaled 107 years. Leslie Mann, it is true, did not "come back" to the majors as Rabbit Maranville and Heinie Groh did, but he was acquired by the Giants on July 19. The three together form an interesting example of how valuable the presence of a steady old-timer or two is to a ball club in the closing weeks of a tight pennant race.

The acquisition of that foxy and skillful playboy of the majors, Rabbit Maranville, by the Cardinals, and the purchase by the Pirates of that famous third baseman, Heinie Groh, bottle bat and all, were both very smart moves on the part of their respective managements, as men like the Rabbit and Heinie, while too old for a season's service in the big time, are extremely valuable over a stretch of four or five weeks. Both, like Leslie Mann, have been through the excitement of many a strenuous, nerve-wracking campaign, and were sure to be a good influence on their younger and more nervous teammates. While those of only a few years' experience are wont to crack under the strain, players like Maranville and Groh could do as much by their attitude and leadership as by their playing ability.

Leslie Mann, who was born exactly a week after Maranville, went to the Braves back in 1913. He played one season with the Chicago Feds, and four with the Cubs. He is a most interesting character, for, besides being a good pinch hitter and utility outfielder, he has used his knowledge and experience as a player to perfect a novel method of teaching baseball by moving pictures. Mann has invented his own projecting lantern and made numerous films to show the correct and incorrect ways of batting, fielding, base-running, pitching and catching. He has a lecture course to go with it, and his system of teaching is both unique and valuable.

Feg Murray Says—

Apropos of nothing in particular, there is as much chance of One-Eyed Connolly being appointed as a linesman at a tennis match as there is of his crashing the gate at the 1927 Harvard-Princeton football game.

SORDS POINTS

He's Been Hitting The Mat Too Often

By JACK SORDS

You can't always hit the mat and come up to win your fights. Sid Terris can prove that.

Terris is to fight Phil McGraw, Detroit lightweight contender, in a return battle at Ebbets Field October 6, and if his form displayed recently against Hilario Martinez, hard-punching Spaniard, is an indication of his true worth, he's going to have a tough time of it with the Detroiter.

Sid, in his last four fights, has found himself in an embarrassing position on the floor. In the first three against Billy Wallace, Ruby Goldstein and Phil McGraw, he got up to win the decision over them all, but against Martinez, who floored him three times in the second round for the count of nine, he couldn't come back. Martinez nearly stopped Terris, something that hasn't been done since Eddie Wagner fought Terris several years ago.

Now Phil McGraw aspires to put Sid on the floor to stay. Phil realizes that he faces one of his most important tests. He saw the Tunney-Dempsey battle, but didn't cease training while in Chicago. He even had his workouts on the train. A victory for McGraw over Terris means a battle with Stanislaus Loayza, Chilean contender, the winner being promised a shot at Sammy Mandell's lightweight crown.

But now Martinez will have to be considered.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN

When the 1925 world's series was ended Hazen Cuyler, slugging outfielder, stood out as the star of that classic. When the present National league baseball season ended he was reposing on the bench—had not been in the lineup regularly for months.

Which may well raise the query as to whom Fickle Fate will choose in this year's classic to toy with and then drop.

In many cases the men who have risen to dizzy heights in one of these inter-league clashes have dropped as suddenly from the limelight as they were thrust into it.

Back in 1905—the year after Christy Mathewson pitched and won three games for the Giants—George Rohe basked in the calcium of the world's series through his spectacular playing with the White Sox.

He was canned before the next campaign began.

George Whiteman, an outfielder, starred for the White Sox in the series of 1918—and was put on the market and disposed of the following winter.

The World war snatched Hank Gowdy from baseball a few minutes after he had proved the batting star of the 1914 series for the Boston Braves. He was the first big league ball player to enlist voluntarily. He returned to the game after the conflict ended but the layoff and his age had checked him.

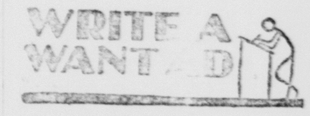

Of course, by the same token, the fall classic has thrust some fellows into the limelight who were playing but minor roles in the scheme of things before the BIG MOMENT came.

Johnny Rawlings, after being shunted around the league, was picked up for utility purposes by the Giants in 1921 and when thrust into the infield proved the star of that series.

Then there was Casey Stengel, who has been drawing some attention as a participant in a "little world's series" as the big one goes on. Stengel, utility outfielder for the Giants, won ball games for them when the series started by socking out prodigious home runs.

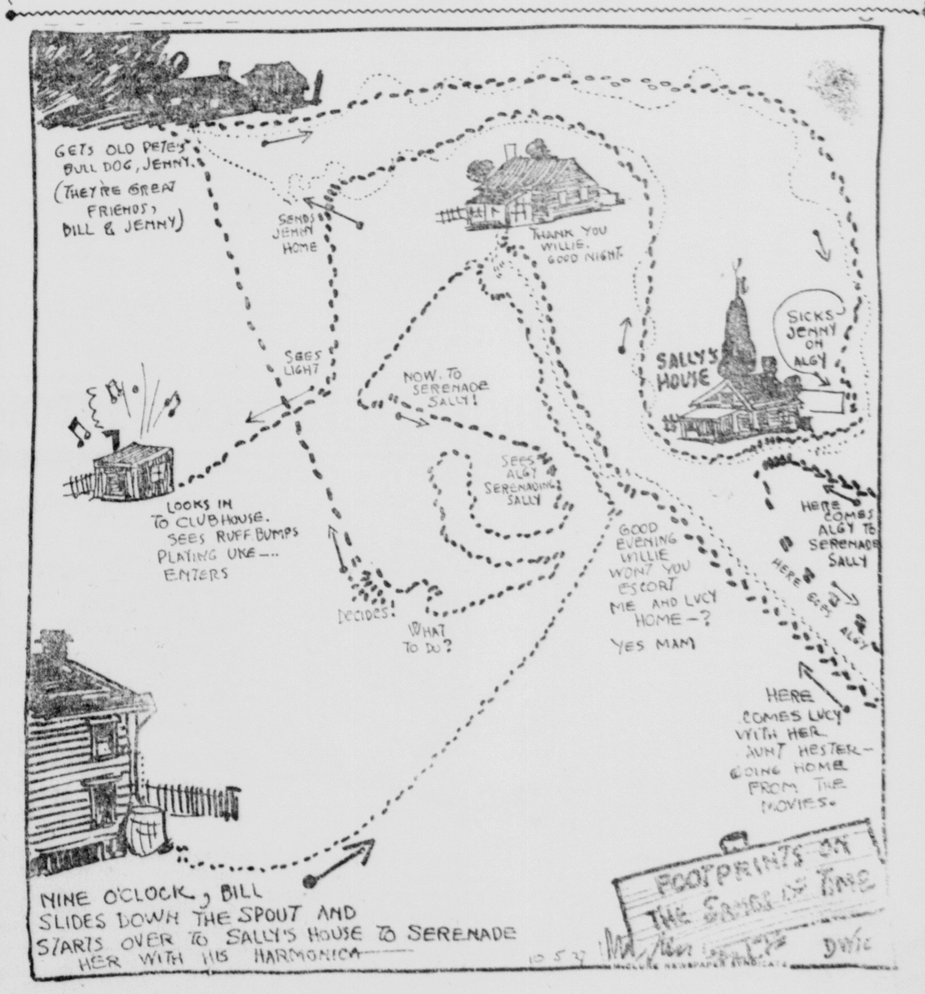

And no one needs to be reminded how old Grove Alexander, shunted off to St. Louis by the Cubs, helped the Cardinals win the National league bunting and then saved the world's series for them with his "keep your shirts on" slogan and three pitched balls that went by Tony Lazzeri's bat.

Now the archies are awaiting the names of the new favorites of Fickle Fate.

The Story of Alaska—Part Three.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

ON OCTOBER 11, 1867, AFTER CONGRESS HAD RATIFIED THE PURCHASE TREATY MADE BY SECRETARY OF STATE SEWARD, THE GREAT PROVINCE OF RUSSIAN AMERICA WAS HANDED OVER TO THE UNITED STATES. IT WAS RENAMED ALASKA ("GREAT LAND"). THE ACQUISITION OF THIS VAST COUNTRY ADDED 577,390 SQUARE MILES TO THE TERRITORY OF THE UNITED STATES, AND GAVE US OUR FIRST FOREIGN POSSESSION.

ALASKAN INDIAN TOTEM POLES.

AT THE TIME OF THE PURCHASE THERE WERE SOME TEN THOUSAND WHITE MEN LIVING IN ALASKA, MOST OF THEM ENGAGED IN THE FUR TRADE. BESIDES A GREAT MANY INDIANS AND ESKIMOS.

THE PRINCIPLE OCCUPATIONS OF THE NATIVES WERE HUNTING, FISHING, AND THE RAISING OF HERDS OF REINDEER, WHICH THEY DOMESTICATED.

Literary Club Is Organized At Public Library

With the purpose of following an intensive course on the Modern Drama, as outlined by Barrett Clark, dramatic editor of a prominent New York paper, a Literary Club has been organized at the New Castle Free Public Library.

This class will be made up of a small group of women interested in reading and discussing their reading.

The dramatic course of reading will begin with Hendrick Ibsen's "The Dolls House," and will be continued up through the Romantic School, the American Dramatists, and end with Eugene O'Neil's "The Emperor Jones."

The club will meet the first and third Tuesdays of each month. After completing the course on the modern drama, the ladies propose to take intensive courses in the other fields of modern literature.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The speculative industrial stocks fell back to a lower level of prices in the early trading today as the result of a heavy selling based on the $240,000,000 increase in brokers' loans in September. It was believed in Wall Street that Tuesday's closing reaction arose from accurate forecasting of the stock exchange governors' monthly report.

Any notion that the expansion in speculative borrowing would stir up bearish sentiment in Wall Street was quickly dispelled by the manner in which stock offerings were gobbled up in the first period. Standard industrials and rails promptly inaugurated a sharp rally in prices which wiped out the effects of the opening declines, and brought prices to a point or more above the previous close. General Motors old stock opened 3 points lower, at 270, but advanced to 272½ in this period, while U. S. Steel, after losing a point at the opening, sold at the equivalent of the previous close.

Brinton Case Not Filed In Court As Yet This Morning

In order that a misunderstanding concerning the status of the will of Mrs. Anna C. Brinton, concerning which there was an article published the day previous to the recent primary, the following facts are set forth for the benefit of John T. Brinton, William Brinton and Mrs. Howard Erwin, named as defendants in an alleged action, purported to have been filed against them by George B. Brinton and sisters on that date.

The publication was to the effect that the action filed charged the three persons named as defendants with having used undue influence in the making of the will, and for their own benefit.

There has been no such action filed at the court house up to this morning and for that reason a correction is made.

The story came in a legitimate way, being given by George B. Brinton, who sought a representative of The News and stated that the papers had been made and would be filed by Attorney A. Martin Graham on that date. The story coming, as it did, from one of the principals in the alleged action, was guaranteed to be correct by the person giving the information.

As the statements made had not up to this morning been substantiated by filed action, it is presumed by those named as defendants that there may have been some ulterior purpose in giving out this information and for this reason a correction is made.

Salvage Submarine Sunk 50 Years Ago

First Craft Built By Holland Taken From Passaic River

PATERSON, N. J., Oct. 5—The first submarine, invented by John P. Holland, a school teacher, which sank when he took it out for trial trip on the Passaic river here 50 years ago, was raised with pontoons and formally presented to the city of Paterson as a relic.

The submarine was turned over to Police Recorder John F. Evans by Henry Wolstenholme, a student of engineering, who with five companions located the boat by use of a magnetic compass two months ago. Wolstenholme and his associates spent weeks searching up and down the river before they were able to find where the craft lay.

After the submarine was raised it was towed by a launch up the river for a distance of a mile and back. A procession of gayly-decorated canoes and motorboats followed and a crowd estimated at 50,000 lined the river banks and cheered.

Among those present was Joseph Holland, son of the inventor. In a speech he thanked Wolstenholme and his associates for having restored to the public the first specimen of his father's work on undersea craft.

The boat will probably be placed on exhibition at South Side park, Paterson, where the "Fenian Ram," another submarine built by Holland, is on view.

Medical O. K. For Pets Is Constantinople Rule

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 5. — The new Public Health Bureau here, avid for more worlds to reform, has hit upon domestic pets as a menace to be grappled with. Every cat and dog, cow and canary, pet mouse or pet anything, must be provided with a health certificate, issued by municipal doctors after due examination. Medical inspectors have already begun a house to house canvas to feel the pulse and inspect the tongue of every beast and bird.

Woman Loses Legs While Picking Coal

POTTSVILLE, Oct. 5—Caught without warning when a coal car backed into a siding where she was picking coal near Kehley Run colliery, at Shenandoah, Mrs. Joseph Hancock, 49, of Shenandoah, had both legs cut off. She is dying at the Locust Mountain hospital.

HERE'S A TIP FOR MR. RICKARD

The champion crowd-persuader of the age—Tex Rickard—should be interested in this picture. It shows how the Japanese turn out for a high school baseball game in Tokio. If a high school game attracts this crowd, what could a world series or world's championship fight draw in Japan?

"BABY AVIATOR" PILOTS SHIP

At the age when most youngsters are playing with dolls, nine-year-old Betty Coupe, of Los Angeles, amuses herself by studying to be an airplane pilot. Her tutor is Ray J. Solomon, Los Angeles, and on several occasions Betty has handled the ship herself with Solomon at hand to take it over in case of trouble. When she finishes her course Betty hopes to convince licensing inspectors that, despite her extreme youth, she is sufficiently proficient to merit a license.

LABOR CHIEFS ARE GREETED

5 reasons

Why YOU Should Own Your Home

FIRST — You cease paying for the upkeep of another man's property. Money that went to the landlord each month will now be invested in your own dwelling. Owning a home makes you independent.

SECOND—A home with its grounds provides the only proper environment for rearing children. Their playmates are the children of other home-owners. Owning a home makes you a better father.

THIRD — Similarly, you choose your neighbors. Instead of being people you must tolerate, they become friends you want to know. Owning a home brings you friends.

FOURTH—You are afforded the opportunity of living in a truly residential section: trees, lawns and flowers in place of noisy streets. Owning a home brings wholesome surroundings.

FIFTH—Being a landowner, you enter more whole-heartedly into the affairs of your community. Its interests are yours. Owning a home makes you a better citizen.

County High School Students To Benefit By Local Art Course

There have been some expressions of regret that the Educational Art Society no longer has any connections with the schools of the city and is to give no more free concerts for the cultural education of the young people of the city. This is a wrong impression.

The Educational Art Society is being conducted along lines similar to the past except that its work is being conducted upon a larger scale. Due to the co-operation and backing of the Scottish Rite Auditorium Association, the society will be able to include county students of high school age who wish to hear the free concerts. Mary Lewis, famous soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Co., Richard Crooks, internationally famous tenor and Gordon and Johnson, famous negro concert artists are being brought to New Castle by the Art Society one day in advance of their engagement on the regular evening series, and on this advance date will give one concert in the Franklin Junior High Auditorium and one in the Scottish Rite Auditorium and at these concerts as many of the students of the public and parochial schools of the city and county will be accommodated as the seating capacities permit. There will be no admission charges for the pupils, the concerts being a part of the Art Society's educational program which will mean so much to the cultural standards of New Castle in the future. In addition the students are having an opportunity to hear both the United States Navy Band on Friday of this week and the Goldman Band in December at an admission price of only 35c, while in January they will see John Drinkwater's great play "Abraham Lincoln" for only 25c. This covers the program of educational work for the season of 1927 and 1928. The educational work is under the supervision of City Superintendent of Schools Dr. C. C. Green and of County Superintendent John C. Syling, both of whom are very anxious that the students get advantage and take advantage of the cultural opportunities along musical and educational lines being afforded them by the Art Society.

It should be remembered that the entire Art Society program is sponsored for the benefit of the community, that admission charges set are intended merely to cover the running expenses, there being no profit or salary for anyone connected with it. Having had experience with outside promoters who have operated such concerts in our city at a much greater cost to patrons and no consideration whatsoever for the young people, it behooves every public spirited citizen to support the Educational Art Society of New Castle in every way possible because of what its work means to the community in a cultural and educational way.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

We can stand around on the corners discussing the weather and telling each other that the fall is going to be late but it makes little difference to the Weatherman. The gentleman goes right ahead with his plans and while he might fool the humans, the birds know what's coming.

Most any afternoon now you will see flocks of them headed south, flying high, usually in a V formation, and always headed south. Tuesday afternoon an exceptionally large flock was wending its way southward and the sight was a pretty one.

Gracefully, speedily, they were winging their way to where the cold weather isn't so severe and as they flew by high overhead, one thought of a "Flying Circus" or a squadron of air bombers.

They were Starlings, or at least a Boy Scout friend of mine said they were, and those lads usually know. Whatever they were they made a pretty picture, and yet as they disappeared into the South one felt that a little more summer had gone.

It isn't always easy to fill a column and a lift from a friend goes a long ways sometimes. Major Guy J. Wadlinger, General Agent of the Kansas City Southern Ry., in Pittsburgh sent a clipping in this morning which is interesting because of its age.

The clipping is from a railroad magazine and is a reprint of September 21, 1877. The clipping follows.

Over 80 bids were received for the construction of the Pittsburgh, New Castle & Lake Erie (now a part of the main line of the Baltimore & Ohio) from Pittsburgh, Pa., to Harmony, 30 miles, and the contract has been let to a firm that offered to build the line complete, including three tunnels, for $7,530 per mile.—Railroad Gazette, September 21, 1877.

They don't build railroads for that price these days, and certainly do not build concrete roads for that. The average cost of concrete roads in this state is $50,000,000 per mile.

One might get himself all confused at the barricade on Mercer street at North street. Three signs are on the barricade, and reading from left to right are "Detour—Park Cars in Middle of Street—Road Closed." Let your conscience be your guide.

Jim McMillin has explained why he moved on to North Mercer street across from the News Building. Jim can sit in his front window and enjoy the World Series without any of the inconveniences of standing in the street.

Which is where most of the roaming will be done for a few days. Out in back of the World Series board reproducing the plays of the games. You'll probably be there, won't you?

Mother!

Child Gets Sick, Cross, Feverish if Constipated

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign the little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Fig Syrup" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious, "fruity laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside cleansing." Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," then see that it is made by "The California Fig Syrup Company."

Two Are Injured In Auto Crash

ROCHESTER, Pa., Oct. 5—Two persons were injured, when four automobiles piled up on the road between Conway and Baden, near Mt. Gallitzin Academy. They are Mr. and Mrs. Alex Herman, Jr., of 1915 Glenn avenue, Northside, Pittsburgh. Herman sustained a deep laceration of the leg, that required seven stitches to close. Mrs. Herman suffered torn ligaments and bruises. They were treated by an Ambridge physician.

The car, which state police say caused the accident was driven by Joe Jambsejovich, of Woodlawn. The drivers of the other cars were Menol Bosmatis of Coffaro, Pa., and Lawrence Schell of McKees Rocks.

Junior A Class Elects Officers

A tie between John Boston, Donald McGoun and Alice Throop resulted in the vote for class treasurer.

The Way of the World

By GROVE PATTERSON

WHEN YOU'RE WELL OFF

Perhaps we humans have no greater weakness than this: we rarely know when we are well off. We seem to lack the kind of judgment we need to convince us that we had better let well enough alone. We are forever wanting to try something different, something new. Much of our path through life leads from the frying pan into the fire and out again.

"I have learned," said the very wise St. Paul, "in whatsoever state I am, therein to be content."

Some comfort is to be had in the thought that through our tendency to change from one thing to another we occasionally hit upon improvement. But the policy we need most is that which leads us to make a complete and thorough job of the thing we are doing in the particular circumstances in which we find ourselves.

CHURCH PROSPERITY

The commerce department, taking a census of the membership and finances of churches, reports prosperity. In the long run that may prove to be more important news than the size of the corn crop.

FORCING GOODNESS

The Italian experiment will be watched with interest. The government over there is trying to cure most human ills by law. Reform bills of all kinds are aimed at moral weaknesses. Communities have been trying for hundreds of years to improve human nature by law. It takes a long process of education.

FRANK AT LEAST

Jim Couzens, the sometimes genial senator from Michigan, says the trouble with his job is that there isn't enough work to do. He says senators have too long vacations and are over-paid.

They wouldn't be over-paid if they lived up to the possibilities of their jobs. A United States senator who says he hasn't work enough to do is very likely neglecting his job. Anyway Senator Couzens is honest. Not many men are willing to say they work too little and are paid too much.

WHO SHALL SAY?

Little Rachel, the daughter of Peter John, the gypsy, can stay on the gypsy trail. Because the little girl had light hair it was believed she was a kidnaped child. Blood tests prove she belongs to the gypsies. The decision saves her from living the humdrum, routine artificial life of what we are pleased to call civilization. Who shall say how fortunate is Rachel, the daughter of Peter John?

Youngstown Pastor Gives Address At Primitive Church

Rev. W. R. Williams, pastor of the First Primitive Methodist church of Youngstown, O., was the principal speaker at the open meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the local Primitive Methodist church, Tuesday evening.

Rev. Williams gave a very interesting address on "The World's Biggest and Best Business." He stressed the fact that the principal work of the church was the uplift of mankind not only in the homeland but throughout the entire world.

A trio number by James MacKenzie, Mrs. Cowan and Miss Katherine Reyburn was given. The devotional hour was in charge of Mrs. Harry Ashton.
